CEILINGS TO CUT DEALERS' GROSS INCOME

OPA Officials Say 'Spread' Will Be Reduced by About $700,000,000.

URGE OVERHEAD SLASH

Retail Association Protests That Many Stores Will Be Forced Out of Business.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The imposition of general price ceilings next month will force retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers to take a huge cut in gross income, Price Administration officials said today.

Maximum prices filed at the highest March levels will reduce the "spread" between retailers on one hand and wholesalers and manufacturers on the other by about $700,000,000, the officials estimated.

The "spread"—a technical term meaning the difference in gross incomes of the three selling groups — will be set at rigid levels by the price freezing order.

Retail associations already have protested vigorously, with predictions that "hundreds of thousands" of stores will be forced out of business by the OPA order.

M ain complaint is that the order fixes both wholesale and retail prices at the levels of the same month. During March, the retailers say, they were selling goods purchased at February wholesale prices — which were in most cases lower than the March wholesale prices.

The solution proposed by OPA Administrator Leon Henderson was a reduction in overhead items of the retailers to absorb the proportional cost increase. Describing the American retail service as "the most luxurious in the world," he said delivery services could be cut down and salesmen could go without flowers in their buttonholes.

In cases of particular hardship, OPA officials said, it may be possible to "roll back" some of the costs to the wholesalers and manufacturers. Mrs. R. M. Kiefer, secretary of the National Association of Retail Grocers, said that many grocery items would have to be sold at cost unless the wholesale ceiling was "rolled back" to levels of some previous month.

One example of squeezing down on profits was the action by Henderson in fixing ceilings of cotton goods and cotton yarn by using a raw cotton price below that provided in the 1942 price control act.

The cotton law provided a price of 21.47 cents a pound for spot cotton, but Henderson used highest March price of 20.37 cents a pound to figure the ceiling on finished goods. OPA officials explained that the cotton mills could absorb the difference in the two figures from their profits, and that they thus were not violating the cotton control act.

Judge Rules Out Shelby Ordinance Curbing Handbills

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston today held unconstitutional Shelby's 11-year-old handbill ordinance under which Homer Pierce, Mansfield labor organizer, was twice arrested and fined for distributing literature for the United Electrical Radio, and Machine Workers union.

Judge Huston held that the city ordinance, passed in 1931, was unconstitutional in that it violated the rights of freedom of speech and the press.

The ordinance required that persons distributing any kind of advertising literature in the city frst had to be licensed by the mayor who could charge for the permits.

Visit of U. S. Ambassador, Admiral Hints Strategy Development.

LONDON—(INS)—United States Ambassador John G. Winant and Admiral Harold R. Stark, commander of U. S. naval forces in European waters, arrived in London today.

Stark's visit was looked upon as an important development in United Nations strategy in view of President Roosevelt's disclosure that American naval units are now operating in the Mediterranean.

TWO UNUSUAL VISITORS

One Saw Dec. 7 'Sneak Blitz' on Pearl Harbor; Other Says Revenge Clouds Hang Over Japs

Bombing Witness Urges Mansfield to Prepare for Attacks.

By ALVIN L. KRIEG

Here's a man who has plenty of answers for those folks who think there's not one chance in a million of an enemy attack on an inland city like Mansfield, folks who believe that air raid precautions and other angles of civilian defense are just so much wasted effort.

He is Fred C. Barnett, who has just returned from Honolulu, where he is an official of the sales promotion department of the Hawaiian Electric company. He is visiting in the city with his bride at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berno, 441 Davis road.

He knows whereof he speaks, for he had a ringside seat, from the living room of his home on the mountainside overlooking the city and the harbor, of the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor last Dec. 7. (The folks there all speak of it as "the day of the blitz.")

"I think people in Mansfield, and in every other city in the United States should prepare just as intensively as Honolulu for a possible attack," Barnett said with conviction.

"Women should engage in every form of Red Cross activity that is made available, and men and women alike should take seriously every possible angle of civilian defense.

"I'm convinced that every city in the nation should have available for any emergency a good blood bank, that every city should have intensive blackout practice. I believe that many lives could have been saved in Honolulu in those days after Dec. 7 if we had had a good blood bank ready for just such an emergency.

"Of course, it might never happen here. But we in Honolulu didn't think it would happen there either, and it did. And anyone who has seen what such a blitz means, can readily appreciate the extreme importance of being prepared."

Barnett was asleep in his

Confident that the United Nations will be victorious in the present war, and conviction that they must work together in effecting the peace after the conflict, were expressed on a visit to Malabar Farm by Col. M. Thomas Tchou, Chinese statesman and scholar. Shown with him are Allen Bond (left) chairman of the Richland county drive for China relief, opening Sunday, and Louis Bromfield, author-farmer who is a member of the campaign committee.

More Coming to Tokyo, Says Chinese Scholar and Statesman.

"That's only the beginning," says Col. M. Thomas Tchou, Chinese scholar and statesman, when someone mentions the recent air raid attacks on Tokyo and other Japanese cities.

"They were just a foretaste of what's coming," he said in an interview last night at Malabar Farm, where he was a dinner guest of the Louis Bromfields.

"What must be done is to wipe out the foundations of Japanese military strength," he declared. "Only in that way will these attacks be successful, because the popular attitude in Japan doesn't mean anything at all. It's the militarists who run the show."

One might have expected to find Col. Tchou depressed over recent developments in Burma. But there wasn't a trace of gloom about this polished little man when he talked about the current world picture. He speaks with authority, for he occupied a high place in China before coming to this country. He was at one time secretary to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, and for three years was director of the labor department of the Chinese government.

His smile flashed repeatedly,

$295,200 Set as May Quota For War Bonds In Richland

Richland county's quota of war savings stamps and bonds has been set at $295,200 for May, Paul M. Eliot, county bond chairman, was notified today by the Treasury department.

This quota represents an increase of 35.96 per cent over the average monthly sale in the county from July, 1941, through January of this year. The county's average for that seven-month period was $217,110.

The Treasury department's announcement of the county and state quotas—Ohio's May quota was set at $31,768,700 against a monthly average of $23,115,679, came on the eve of the pledge canvass which will be conducted by 1,600 workers in the county from May 2 to 9.

In this canvass, every income-earner will be asked to pledge 10 per cent of his income for purchase of war savings bonds or stamps.

"I'm confident that we can not only meet this quota, but beat it" Eliot declared. "The Treasury department has announced that our quota will be revised upward in June and July, and after July we will be called upon to purchase twice as many as we are asked to buy in May, which will be something over a half million dollars."

Eliot's army of workers who will conduct the canvass have on hand 31,000 pledge cards. It is estimated that there are approximately 28,000 income-earners in the county, and more than 17,000 now are purchasing bonds through the voluntary payroll deduction plan offered by their employers.

The May quota is based on a total national sale of $600,000,000, as against the figure of $400,000,000, which has been accomplished in recent months. The Treasury department ex-

Army Rule Leads to Closing Of City's Disorderly Houses

Mansfield police received orders today to close all houses of prostitution in the city in line with the War department's policy of cracking down on such establishments within a radius of 50 miles from any army post.

Police Chief Thomas M. Bell announced that he had been ordered by Dr. William B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, to close all disorderly houses within the next week.

Dr. Wild stated that the order was given after a conference yesterday with Army medical officers who requested that the city close the houses to safeguard the health of hundreds of soldiers to be stationed at Bucyrus for engineering training.

Dr. Wild said that the War department has requested that houses of prostitution be eliminated within 50 miles of any Army post to protect soldiers from contracting venereal diseases.

Several hundred soldiers will be billeted in barracks at the Crawford county fairground while they are receiving engineering training in the old New York Central railroad shops at Bucyrus.

Chief Bell stated that officers were contacting operators of known and suspected disorderly houses and that after next week, police would make a general check to insure carrying out of the department's order.

Persons arrested in the city on prostitution charges will be prosecuted by the health department, according to Dr. Wild.

Carpenter Killed When Crowbar Touches 2,300-Volt Wire on Power Line.

Accidentally touching a crowbar to a power line which had dropped near the ground, Harry C. Lewis, 70, Lucas carpenter, was electrocuted Wednesday afternoon about one mile north of Lucas.

Merle Warner, Lucas filling station operator and first aid student, administered artificial respiration for 30 minutes in an unsuccessful attempt to revive the elderly man.

Lewis, resident of Lucas for many years, had been employed by the village to help replace a utility pole which was broken off by a tractor Monday night. He was working with Nat Good, village maintenance man.

Hearing Lewis fall, Good looked around to see the crowbar fused to the power line which carries 3,300 volts. Lewis was

SEES END OF 'FAMILY MAN' DEFERMENTS

Sen. Johnson Forecasts Men With Dependents Will Be Available to Army.

U. S. WOULD GIVE AID

Senate Military Committee Hears Testimony on Bill to Provide Home Help.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Senator Johnson (D., Colo.) suggested today that "dependency as a cause of deferment" from military service might be eliminated by congressional approval of a measure now before the senate military committee.

Men with wives, children, parents or others to support would be able to join the fighting forces if the government assured them that their dependents would be provided for, the western senator explained.

Johnson said, however, that as chairman of the subcommittee in charge of the bill he would press for some sort of estimate on the cost to the government before trying to bring the measure up in the senate.

Witnesses from the war and navy departments testified yesterday that a number of men with dependents already were serving in the armed forces and indicated that many more probably would be drafted as soon as some system for aiding dependents was approved.

"This thing is a good deal more complicated than a lot of us expected," Johnson said, referring to conflicting testimony yesterday about a proposal to give the federal security agency authority to make supplementary grants in "hardship cases."

Under the pending measure, wives and children of men in the service would be given a preferred status as class A dependents, with $30 deducted monthly for their suport from the pay of men in lower grades. To this the government would add $20 for the wife, making a total of $40 monthly, and $10 additional for each child. Thus a wife with three children would receive $70 a month, of which $20 would come from her husband's pay and the rest from the government.

Class B dependents would include parents, brothers, sisters, and grandchildren. If the enlisted man wanted to aid anyone in this class and had other dependents, he would add $5 to the $20 deducted for class A dependents. The government then would add $15 a month for one parent, $25 for two, and $5 for each additional brother, sister, grandchild or parent up to a maximum of $50 monthly for class B dependents.

The proposed "hardship case" payments by the federal security agency, amounts not specified, would be in addition to these payments.

SEEKS OFFICE

Metzenbaum Announces He'll Run For Congress.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — State Senator James Metzenbaum announced today he would attempt to win the 22nd Ohio district congressional seat now held by Mrs. Frances P. Bolton, a Republican.

Announcing his candidacy for the Democratic nomination, Metzenbaum said "as the campaign progresses I shall address myself to the fundamental issues confronting the American people."

Metzenbaum is serving his second term in the Ohio senate. Two years ago he won the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor but was defeated in a Republican sweep of state offices. As counsel for a special Ohio senate investigating committee, he led a group of "hatchet men" in an extensive inquiry into the administration of former Governor Martin L. Davey a few years ago.

CUTS PRICES

Liquor Department Reduces Charge On 119 Brands In Ohio.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The state liquor department will make slight price reductions on 119 brands of liquor sold in state stores in conformity with the federal order freezing prices at the March level.

Director Jacob B. Taylor had approved small increases in the prices, effective April 27, because of distillers' increases. The price-freezing order becomes effective May 18.

Reach Gateway To China; RAF Strikes Paris

British Planes Hit Foundries; Nazi Peace Feelers Are Reported.

BULLETIN

FOLKESTONE, England—(AP)—A gigantic air battle between the RAF and the Nazis was fought out this afternoon 25,000 feet over the northern French coast.

(By Associated Press)

Britain's thundering aerial offensive struck at German war foundries in Paris before dawn today while London heard unconfirmed reports that Germany had offered a "Nazi peace" to England three times since mid-March.

Simultaneously, a Tokyo broadcast quoted well-informed circles in Berlin as saying that Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini would meet in a few days.

The news agency A. F. I., affiliated with Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Free French government, said the German peace offers were based on a nine-page memorandum by Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering which would give the third reich undisputed mastery of continental Europe.

Both President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have scorned any suggestion of negotiations with the Nazis, described by Churchill as "the guilty men who have let hell loose upon the world."

A Vichy broadcast said 52 persons were killed and 100 injured in one section in the RAF's heavy new assault on Paris—the fifth attack on the German-occupied French capital in less than two months.

A large number of houses were reported destroyed.

It was the eighth successive

Burma Defenders In Danger of Being Trapped by Long Enemy Advance.

(By Associated Press)

British and Chinese defenders of Burma, gravely threatened with entrapment, were reported to have lost contact today as Japanese mechanized columns drove to Lashio, the gateway to China, after a 170-mile advance in four days.

Chinese dispatches said New Lashio, only a few miles from the old town of Lashio where the Mandalay rail line with the mountain road into China, was a center of heavy fighting.

Lashio lies 130 miles northeast of Mandalay.

Chinese quarters acknowledged that the struggle, fought through the tangled jungles, rice paddies and mountains against overwhelming Japanese forces, had reached a stage of acute crisis.

Meanwhile, somewhat offsetting the grim turn of the Burma conflict, the Allies rolled up slashing new aerial victories over the enemy in the far Pacific.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported that Allied airmen destroyed or damaged 20 Japanese planes and started big fires in an attack on the Japanese air base at Lae, New Guinea, and also battered anew at the enemy base at Koepang, on Dutch Timor island.

"Flying Tigers" of the American Volunteer Group fighting in Burma were credited with a spectacular victory over the Japanese air forces, shooting down 22 or 24 planes which attempted to raid Loiwing on the Burma-Yunnan border.

The AVG fliers emerged without loss of a single plane.

On the fighting front, latest dis-

PREDICTED: Hitler, Mussolini Expected to Meet for Confab

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Amid reports of growing tension in Italy, accentuated by a critical food shortage, it was said today in Axis reports that a meeting would take place shortly between Adolf Hitler, Premier Benito Mussolini and the Japanese ambassador to Berlin.

The Japanese radio broadcast the report of an impending meeting between the Axis chieftains, quoting a dispatch from the Berlin correspondent of the Tokyo newspaper Hochi Shimbun. The correspondent gave as his authority "well-informed" sources in the German capital.

Masinori Oshima, Nipponese ambassador to Berlin, will in all probability participate in the talks with Hitler and il duce, Hochi's correspondent said.

The report of the meeting attracted widespread attention in view of current difficulties in Italy and new efforts by the Germans to send out peace feelers through three neutral countries.

The independent French news agency reported from Ankara that separate German peace feelers had been put out during the last six weeks in Turkey, Switzerland and Sweden. Terms of all the proposed peace settlements were similar, it was said.

A document put out in Stockholm was said to call for Anglo-American recognition of German control in Europe, although the Nazis were represented as being "prepared" to consider "Anglo-Saxon" suggestions for application to the new order.

The second provision would allow Germany to annex such Russian teritories as necessary to complete her "European living space," and a third provision included a German demand for the

VICTIMS: Air Force General, Correspondent Killed In Crash

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia—The death in an airplane crash of Brig. Gen. Harold H. George of the United States army air force was announced today by Allied headquarters.

Also killed in the crash was Melville Jacoby, Time and Life magazine correspondent who came to Australia from Bataan last month with his wife after living with the beleaguered U. S. and Filipino forces defending the peninsula against the Japanese invaders.

One of the brilliant staff officers who served with Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines, Brig. Gen. George accompanied MacArthur to Australia in his epic journey last month from Bataan peninsula.

His distinguished service in the Philippines gained him his promotion to brigadier general last January.

Brig. Gen. George was born Sept. 14, 1892, in Lockport, N. Y. He was assigned to the Philippines on March 3, 1941, after commanding the 31st pursuit group at Selfridge Field, Mich.

He entered the army as a member of the New York National Guard in 1916 during the Mexican border crisis.

The airplane accident occurred late Monday but details were withheld.

RENEWS APPEAL TO DRIVERS TO AID SERVICE MEN

Auto Club Official Wants More to Join League to Provide Rides.

Greater response to the call issued last week to Richland county motorists to enroll in the newly formed Service Motor league was urged today by Deputy Registrar Jack Berger of the Richland County Automobile club.

Less than 20 motorists of the Mansfield area have signed up for the volunteer motorized group being organized throughout the nation to help meet the transportation needs of men in the armed forces.

The program was instituted last week by the Auto club following receipt of information from national headquarters stating that the war department had modified its policy against hitch-hiking so as not to prohibit men in military service from accepting rides voluntarily offered by individuals or properly accredited organizations.

Stating that the plan is being taken up by auto clubs throughout the country Berger urged county motorists to do their part by enrolling in the league at club headquarters, 56 North Mulberry street.

"Membership in the organization is open without charge to all responsible motorists," Berger went on to say. "The only requirement is the desire of the motorist to help out by inviting the enlisted men to ride as his guests."

Upon enrollment each member receives an identification certificate and distinctive windshield sticker which signifies to men in uniform that the motorist appreciates their part in the nation's effort and invites them to ride.

Berger added that to avoid picking up a man who might be A. W. O. L., a league member when stopping for a man in uniform will ask for his official pass authorizing leave. The guest will then sign his name and station in a space provided on the league member's certificate.

One thousand Minute Men of Ohio's great volunteer Army will canvass everyone in Mansfield and Richland county starting Saturday morning, May 2nd. They are backing up our boys at the front. Let us help them make this work as easy as possible.

You will be invited to sign a pledge (the facsimile of which appears at the left) saying how much you are willing to invest in War Bonds and Stamps. If you are already buying, sign the pledge to show that you are doing your part.

You don't pay a cent to sign; you don't even have to guarantee to buy. It is just a promise that you will want to keep. Your conscience and patriotism will be the only judge of how well you keep the promise. Will you be the one helping to buy that plane, tank or ship by buying your share of Bonds? Remember they are OUR boys. They are risking their lives—giving their lives so that America can live. Just as you are counting upon them to give everything they've got, so are they counting on you to give everything that you've got by working harder than you have ever done before and by continuing to buy Bonds and Stamps to the very limit of your buying power. Pledge yourself to buy all of the Bonds you can regularly every pay day until this War is won.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1942.

Some history is being made—but a lot of it seems like repetition.

Now they're talking about a peroxide shortage—and it will be interesting to watch a blond slowly reverting to a brunette.

Some folks think Hitler has "something up his sleeve" for the spring drive in Russia—but it may turn out to be no more than his arm.

Hoarded Silver Should Be Used

NEED for a metal to bridge over the shortage of copper and tin is attracting attention to silver, which is suitable for many industrial uses but which is withheld from more general use because of the fictitiously high price established by the federal government—under pressure from the strong congressional bloc representing the half dozen western states that are large producers of silver.

Just as the government has been accumulating and holding gold at a pegged price high above value, the same process has been followed with silver, which has been placed on a monetary, rather than a commodity, basis.

Several billion ounces of silver have been bought and stored by the government, with restrictions against sale at less than $1.29 an ounce, which is several times the supply and demand value, on a commodity basis.

Not only does the Silver Purchase Act, passed eight years ago at the instigation of silver-boosting legislators, make it impossible for the treasury to sell this metal at reasonable prices for industrial use, but it adds the burden of buying more domestic mined silver at around double the actual value.

Secretary Morgenthau, and many others, have urged repeal of the silver law but any such action is being vigorously opposed by the silver bloc, which now shows an inclination to join with the farm bloc in an effort to promote the selfish interests of both these minority groups.

Legislation designed to specially benefit any particular minority, to the detriment of the majority, is reprehensible at any time. It is particularly so when all are called upon to make sacrifices because of the war. Hoarded silver should now be made available for industrial use at a fair market price, with encouragement of increased production to meet commercial needs.

Planning Vacation Is Different

PLANNING this year's vacation is quite a different matter from what it has been heretofore—and it is train and bus schedules that are more likely to be consulted this summer than road maps and guide books.

Those long-distance motor trips, to which Americans have become accustomed, are quite definitely "out" for the duration of war—as the ordinary hazards of travel are further complicated by the present difficulty or impossibility of replacing car, tires or other motor vehicle equipment in the event of accident.

There is the further consideration of possible theft of car or tires at some distant place, and the resultant inconvenience and cost.

There is no ban on vacations, however, or adverse criticism of the vacation idea—which seems even more defensible now than in more normal times.

Persons planning long trips by train or bus are advised to make inquiries and reservations early, as later increase in troop movements may make it necessary to requisition public travel facilities to a greater extent. Despite rumors, there is no likelihood of a government ban on vacations, nor is rationing of rail or bus passenger tickets contemplated for the near future.

For vacations closer home—or for favorite week-end and Sunday motor trips—decisions must rest with individuals, based on condition of cars, unused mileage in tires, required driving for business purposes or transportation to and from work, and the like.

For those accustomed to making trips in their own car, the suggestion is offered—why don't you try a train or bus trip sometime . . . you might like it. Remember when hundreds of Mansfielders went to Cedar Point on those B. & O. Sunday excursions, and right around twenty years ago when 475 from here went to Chicago on a week-end excursion on the Pennsylvania railroad?

Make It a Real Clean-Up Week

MANSFIELD'S annual clean-up week, which starts next Monday, will offer an unusual opportunity to rid the home premises of impediments and to also make a contribution to the national war effort.

In practically every cellar, attic, garage or storeroom, there are old newspapers and magazines, and various sorts of metal junk that has passed the stage of usefulness but that has been shoved aside to await a more convenient time to dispose of it.

Now there is an actual need for old paper and metal of all kinds, so this year's clean-up week will not only serve the customary purpose of making homes and surroundings more attractive but will also present an appeal to patriotism.

Suppose, for instance, that you were moving into a smaller home—with no attic or other space in which to store the odds and ends that have accumulated through the years but for which you have no further need. Some of these things can probably be sold to advantage, others can be contributed to a worthy organization, and still others can become a part of the collection that will be made in each of the city wards next week under sponsorship of the Junior Association of Commerce.

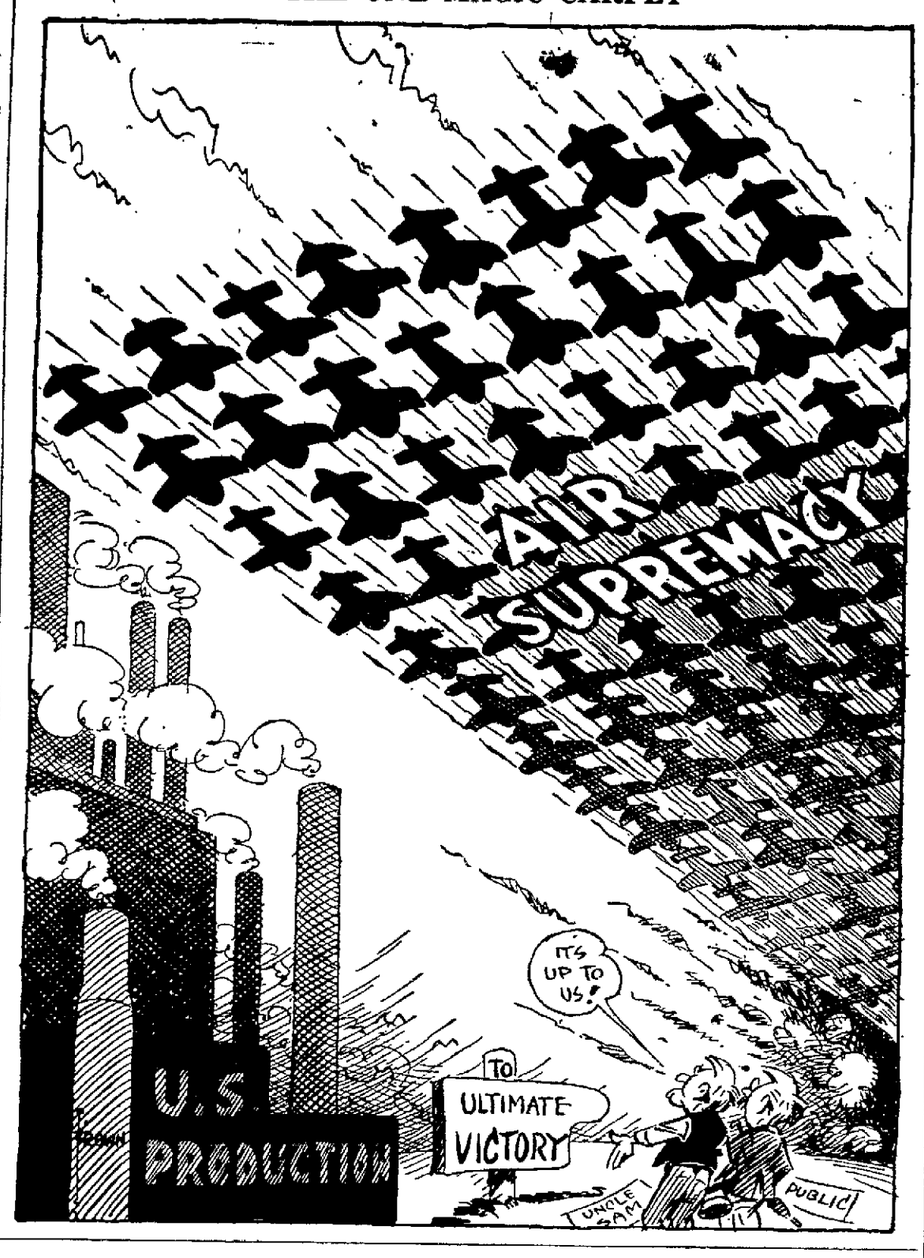
Coat Hangers Get Attention

NOW it's coat hangers to help win the war. They cannot do it alone, but attention to them certainly can help. They do not become scrap metal for munitions, but they can be used over and over again, thus preventing the use of more steel to make more coat hangers.

It is the theory of the young people in one large junior high school that coat hangers should not be idle any more than production machinery. So they gather them up from their homes and those of their neighbors, sell them to dry cleaners and use the money for flags, bomber-donations or other patriotic purposes.

The energy and initiative of school children is being used to great advantage in backing up the older brothers on the firing lines.

THE ONE MAGIC CARPET



Say Politics 'Out for Duration'

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

CONSIDERING how completely partisanship is supposed to be suspended "for the duration" there seems to be quite a bit of it in connection with the current congressional campaign.

It certainly is rather partisan if it's a fact, as charged by Representative Clare E. Hoffman of Michigan, that the Democratic administration is trying to defeat him, and as many other Republicans as possible, by "smearing" them as pro-Axis propagandists, among details of a grand jury investigation Attorney General Francis Biddle has been conducting in Washington lately.

That Clare's accusation's provable isn't likely, for the justice department naturally doesn't admit it, but the Michigander made it, in a formal speech on Capitol Hill, and, even if it isn't so, it was a mean jab at the administration—all the meaner if Clare made it up, indeed. I think he believes it, though, and it isn't a very nonpartisan idea, looked at from either standpoint.

Wendell Willkie, Republican Congressional Leader Joseph W. Martin, ex-Chairman John Hamilton of the G. O. P.'s national committee, Clarence Buddington Kelland, the committee's present publicity manager, and many another of the party's big bugs, are out with declarations of unqualifying loyalty to the New Deal's war effort, but most of them strongly hint that their own bunch could make a still better one.

And, anyway, they all agree that the war's the only subject that they're pro-administration on.

"Unsound Panaceas."

As Publicity Manager Kelland put it, they're afraid that the New Dealers will take advantage of the war for the extension of "unsound economic panaceas"—lapping over into subsequent peace time.

Congressman Martin also mentions the vital essentiality of the two-party system to democracy's survival—that is, the G. O. P.'s survival by the election of plenty of its candidates in November.

Wendell Willkie, who dictated most of the Republican national committee's 1942 declaration of campaign principles, was a trifle funny about it. He dwelt emphatically upon the party's historic devotion to human liberty and equality, somewhat implying that the Democrats haven't always stood so pat for 'em, the conclusion, seemingly, being that the latter mustn't be permitted to make too clean a sweep next fall, or liberty and equality won't be so safe afterward. The humor of it is that Wendell was a Democrat until shortly before he was presidentially nominated.

G. O. P. Publicity-ite Kelland, who, in the nature of his job, should be an authority on the subject of publicity, has taken a resounding crack at the administration's surplus (so he says) of publicity.

Kelland's account is that 30,000 of its personnel are, not exactly at work, but drawing pay in Washington, that the number's ridiculous and that they simply waste paper, now getting scarce, with their "releases." Congressman Percy Priest of Tennessee likewise has howled over the government's "sprawling publicity"—and Priest's a Democrat.

We want unity, hollers the Republican national committee, regardless of "party affiliations." Nevertheless, the committee adds, "lack of organization is the outstanding weakness of the present administration."

Roll Away the Stone

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

I COULD NOT do this for you on Easter, but after all, what does that matter? For to those who really live, every day may be an Easter and every day a resurrection.

There are so many lesser deaths before the final one.

We lie in so many tombs, we of the faltering hearts.

And before every resurrection a stone must be rolled away, that we may find our way into the dawn.

Sometimes that stone is fear. Sometimes it is vanity. Sometimes it is regret or remorse or hate or sluggish indifference to the call of life. But whatever it is, it is a stone, as dense and deadly as that which lay before the tomb of Christ. And always we must fight for our own resurrection before we are free.

And so on Easter morning when I could not talk to you, I thought of you—you who have been so close to me all these years. I thought how some of our hearts have been walled away by grief and some by shame and some by nameless terrors. And deep within we lay seemingly as dead as the crucified Jesus.

Dead? No, not really dead. There was life within us we could have if we would only answer to its call, if we were willing to have liberty and pay its price. If we were willing to roll away the stone of our own stupidity or stubbornness, we could walk free into the dawn.

If we were only willing.

And then, through tears, I thought of how many of you I have known through the years who have lain bound behind some stone and yet refused to accept its bondage. How many of you I have seen find Easter. Sometimes you were in prison cells. Sometimes in homes darkened by loss. Sometimes in tombs you had made out of your own hate. Yet something woke in you and pushed the stone away.

I know very little of the essential wisdoms but this I have learned in these last weeks of helplessness and pain:

We can all push the rock away. There is nothing which life may wall around us, there is nothing which we may build about ourselves which we may not push away and find the dawn. Always it is there waiting in its loveliness . . . waiting in its fresh beginning . . . for us to come. It is for us to make the effort. It is for us to find the light and the new start.

Timely Editorial

Dubious Patriots.

Father Coughlin's "Social Justice" is the most notorious of the several weekly newspapers and magazines playing Hitler's game in this country, but the only reason it was worse than Gerald L. K. Smith's "The Cross and The Flag" is that the Coughlin publication had a larger circulation.

Smith, erstwhile associate of Huey Long, is a brazen demagogue who has been following the Hitler line ever since his connection with the Louisiana kingfish raised him from obscurity. Smith is a dangerous man and his magazine is exactly the kind that one would expect of him—anti-Jewish, anti-British, anti-democratic, anti-American.

Notwithstanding Smith's fascist sympathies and the obviously seditious nature of the first issue of his magazine, three members of congress have written congratulatory messages for the Detroit rabble rouser to use in promoting subscriptions. Senator Nye, Senator Reynolds and Rep. Roy Woodruff are the three who have lent their names to this subversive agent's cause.—Akron Beacon-Journal.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Labor Chieftains Failed to Thaw Roosevelt's Wage-Freezing Plan

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—AFL and CIO chiefs, sometimes called the president's "labor cabinet," tried to put the heat on him at the White House last week to stave off the ban on wage boosts. But they never had a chance.

The president pulled a charm filibuster on them—a favorite Roosevelt tactic when he wants to avoid talking about something.

Apparently the president figured the labor leaders would make a final attempt to block the pay freeze. So he launched his filibuster as soon as CIO President Philip Murray walked in, by previous arrangement 10 minutes ahead of the other members of the joint committee. Whatever Murray intended to say, he never had the remotest chance.

The president immediately started talking about New York politics, and what he described as the "colorful career" of Lieut. Gov. Charles Poletti.

This took up nine of the 10 minutes allotted to Murray. Then, before he could break in, the president said, "Well, Phil, I guess it's time to call in the other boys. I know you don't want to keep them waiting."

That ended that. So Round I went to the president by a big margin.

Round Two.

ROOSEVELT took Round II by the same filibustering tactics and by the same wide margin.

Again, after the laborites had been seated and amenities had been exchanged, he launched immediately into a discussion of politics and politicians and kept this up in his most entertaining vein for most of the hour allotted to the conference.

Then he pointedly ended the meeting by remarking, "Well, boys, I guess it's time for lunch."

The disconcerted laborites had to take the hint. But as they rose to go Murray made one last attempt to raise the wage-freezing issue.

"Mr. President," he said, "are you going to issue an order to the War Labor Board not to grant any further wage increases?"

Cocking his cigaret holder at a breezy angle the president answered with a broad grin, "Well, Phil, I haven't said that I will and I haven't said that I won't."

And that's all the laborites were able to get out of him.

Petty Politics.

BEHIND the scenes, there was more to this incident than a maneuver to avert an unwelcome discussion.

Actually it was the climax to a growing resentment in White House quarters at the shortsighted attitude of the labor chiefs toward the grave inflation situation and their persistent practice of playing petty politics on important appointments affecting their own interests.

A graphic illustration was their recommendation of Wendell Lund, little-known executive director of the Michigan State Unemployment Compensation Commission, for appointment as head of the re-organized Labor Production Division of the War Production Board.

For months, the AFL and CIO have been loudly demanding more "labor participation" in the war machinery. The Labor Production Division is of the utmost importance to labor. But when it came to proposing a chief of this key labor agency, the laborites did not offer the name of a labor man.

Because of personal jealousies and petty personal politics, they passed over such outstanding production experts as Robert Watt, AFL head of the International Labor Office; Clint Golden, brainy head of the CIO Steel Workers; Walter Reuther; dynamic young vice president of the Auto Workers.

Instead, the politics-playing labor moguls got together on Lund, a lawyer, with very limited industrial experience and no knowledge at all of the war production program.

Around the White House, it is no secret that the president is getting awfully fed up with this kind of labor "statesmanship."

Note: When John L. Lewis heard that Murray and William Green had proposed Lund, he rumbled, "In six months they'll wish they had Hillman back."

Good Neighbors.

THE torpedoed Argentine tanker Victoria displayed her neutrality with no less than six flags painted on bridge, sides, and stern. Yet the Nazis went for her. . . . Some time after U. S. tire freezing, a shipment of tires arrived in Brazil from Liverpool, on the British steamer Laplace. . . . Guatemala has ordered deportation of 22 Axis agents. Also she would like to deport 75,000 bags of coffee piled up at Puerto Barrios, with no shipping in sight. . . . The British have purchased the entire sugar crop of the Dominican Republic. . . . Labor troubles in the Potosi mines, high in the Bolivian Andes, are expected to cause a decline in tin exports to U. S. . . . Argentina is casting uneasy glances at delivery of U. S. planes and other armament to neighbor Uruguay. But Uruguay has heartily supported the democratic bloc.

LaFollette's Waistline.

DRIVING to work the other morning, a Capitol newsman spied a familiar figure hoofing it and pulled up alongside.

"Care for a lift, Senator?" he offered.

"No thanks," replied Senator Bob LeFollette of Wisconsin cheerily. "I need the exercise. I'm trying to reduce my waistline."

The reporter drove on. Arriving at a hearing of the senate patents committee, the newsman found Senator Homer Bone, commitee chairman, somewhat agitated.

"It is about time to begin," complained Bone, "but a quorum of the committee isn't present. I wonder what has happened to Senator LaFollette. He's usually one of the first here."

The reporter held a whispered consultation with Bone, after which the senator called the hearing to order.

"We will proceed without a quorum," announced Bone, with a mischievous twinkle in his eye. "But I want it to go in the record that this hearing has been held up by Senator LaFollette's waistline."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—How old would you say a man had to be before he could be graduated from a state university, become a foreign correspondent and get kicked out of Germany, tour Scandinavia, lecture in a western university, drive a milk wagon in Connecticut, get married, write a novel, and align himself, along with such men as Bob Sherwood and John Steinbeck in the Office of Coordinator of Information, which means, in simpler terms, writing and editing short-wave broadcasts for foreign countries?

Would he have to be thirty-six? Forty?

Some men would, perhaps, but William Woods made it at 25. That's his age, he tells me. From 2 o'clock in the afternoons until eight o'clock in the evenings he writes scripts in English which are translated and then short-waved to Europe. These scripts tell the German people everything will be okay if they can get rid of Hitler and his gang.

BUT after eight o'clock, when his chores are over for the day and his time is his own, he is reading the reviews of his novel, "The Edge of Darkness," as they come in. This is a story of the stubborn spirit of Norwegians who are biding their time under the hub of the Quislings and the German conquerors. Warner Brothers bought the book for a picture before it was published. On a similar theme is a recent Steinbeck novel, "The Moon Is Down," and in commenting on this point our own John Selby, who reviewed both books, said, "If Steinbeck's book is great, then this is also great."

Woods tells of an interesting broadcast picked up from the Italians the other night. It wasn't the usual propaganda theme this time. The Italians were bitter against the way the rest of the world had been belittling their prowess in arms. . . . "Everybody praises the Germans," moaned Rome, "but nobody has a good word for us. The British—they just laugh." The Italians then went on to mention the hundreds of thousands of Italians who had either been killed or captured by the British, thus "proving" what ardent campaigners they were.

WOODS wrote his book while driving a milk truck over Connecticut's rural roads between 1 a. m. and 3 p. m. The university that graduated him was the University of North Carolina. The university where he lectured was the University of Iowa. The novel he wrote grew out of a short story he tried to write about a middle-aged Norwegian woman. . . . It was an "idea" for a story but it didn't jell, he said. "My experience has been that 'ideas' for books aren't enough. . . . You've got to have a story first. The ideas take care of themselves."

Woods thinks all the occupied countries are fermenting with revolt. He thinks they would all rise if they had arms and had half a chance. Broadcasts from Europe suggest this, he says, although we have to remember that it isn't only the Axis countries that put out propaganda.

A Farmer's Diary

No Bottle-Neck

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE SUN shines warm today, and "every clod feels the stir of might." There is something stirring, too, in the bending of teams to the plow; in the bursting apple buds; in the tireless hum of tractors on neighboring fields; in the shriek of rumbling trains and the dusty trails of milk trucks around bends of the valleys.

Our farm, like most, is off the beaten track. We do not see marching men in uniform, nor hear blaring military bands; we do not have anything to do with bombers or tanks, and except that some of our finest young men have joined the army and navy, things seem, to the casual eye, much as they always do, in spring.

There are more little pigs and calves and colts than usual; more brooder houses with a plume of smoke above them on cool nights. Every available tractor is in the fields and men with slow horses do whatever power machinery cannot find time for, with the avowed conviction, "every little helps."

Farm women are planting bigger, more varied gardens, with visions of cellars full of food when winter comes. They are studying nutrition—vitamins—balanced diet. They are learning that the greatest munitions of all the world are grown on farms, and that farm wives are full partners in producing these munitions.

Just as every mile of rails is vital to the railroads, so every farm is part of the nation's productive whole. Days are long. They will get longer and hotter. To bear well the burden and heat of the day—in 1942, greatest year of U. S. history—every farmer must realize that his humble earthy job is of first importance.

Farmers out our way are no different from those in thousands of other communities. They are modern, intelligent, busily alive to the national danger. They have no time for brash heroics, they do not seek to play the lead in any dramatic role, but all across the land their tractors hum, their steady calloused hands hold the plows from daylight to dark, making straight and gleaming furrows. Their steadfast faith in what is just and good beats steady pulsing bass in the symphony of national war effort.

TRAINING FOR GIRLS TO OPEN AT NYA CENTER

Class For Those 17 Through 24 to Open Tuesday at Charles Mill.

Facilities for training girls at the National Youth Administration resident center at Charles Mill lake will be available next Tuesday under the government program to speed the training of workers for war industries, it was announced today by Mrs. William Graessle, area youth personnel officer for the NYA.

Enrollment in defense classes at the resident center will be opened first to girls in the Mansfield area and later to applicants from other sections of the state, Mrs. Graessle said. The courses have been open only to young men in the past.

Girls from 17 through 24 years old will be accepted for instruction in welding, machine shop and other trades that will qualify them for jobs in the war production program. A matron will be employed at the camp to supervise girls' activities, Mrs. Graessle said.

Enrollment in the courses will be handled through the National Employment Service headquarters on North Diamond street.

Meanwhile, C. W. Handley, manager of the Employment center, said a number of places are open for young men trainees at the NYA resident center and the Senior high school shop.

He urged young men from 17 to 25 to enroll in defense classes at the NYA center and older men for training at Senior high school. Four courses are offered at the NYA center. They include auto mechanics, sheet metal work, welding, and machine shop.

Youths who take any of the courses except machine shop must live at the resident center. Those in the machine shop classes may live at home. Residents at the center receive $30 a month with $18 deducted for board and room. Non-residents are paid $25 a month to cover their traveling expenses, cost of textbooks and other incidentals.

Under the revised NYA training program, men students may study eight weeks at the Charles Mill center and then be transferred to Dayton to receive actual instruction as airplane mechanics. At the end of the second eight weeks course they will be certified for civil service jobs if their scholastic records warrant it.

Enrolles in the defense courses at Senior high school receive free instruction in sheet metal work, auto mechanics, welding, machine shop, electric shop and inspection.

Mrs. Graessle said trainees at the NYA resident center will do actual war production while they learn to work with tools. If youths are unable to obtain jobs in Ohio on completion of their training, jobs will be open in the eastern states, she added.

CHAPTER XXXVI

"Good afternoon, sir."

Parris jumped.

"Oh, I didn't mean to frighten you!" The girl was young, and slight. He saw that her hair was a very pale silver-gold, that her eyes were smoky blue, that her mouth was singularly red, her complexion strangely golden.

"Your name isn't Renee, is it?"

She looked startled, and drew back a little. "No," she said unsteadily.

"I do beg your pardon."

"My name is Elise."

"And mine is Mitchell, Parris Mitchell."

"The one that plays the piano?"

Parris laughed. "How on earth did you happen to know that I played the piano—or hear of me at all?"

"Herr Dr. Berdorff often spoke of you."

He noticed now that she had ever so slight an accent.

"Are you German?"

She shook her head. "Viennese. You studied medicine in Vienna. Herr Berdorff told me much about you."

"He never mentioned you to me."

"Why should he?"

"Well—I can think of some reasons why he should."

"I was very sorry he had to go."

"Yes. I miss him still. I saw him, though, in Germany, last summer."

"Oh, did you? And how is he?"

"Well. He has a church, and he has married."

"What is she like, his wife?"

"Quiet little German hausfrau who will mend his socks, and sew on buttons. You studied piano with him?"

"I was a dunderhead."

"I don't believe it."

"How could you know? He said you were a genius."

"That I was not. Have you been here all of the time, here in this house?"

"My father is the chief of this experimental farm. It was bought by the Liberty Plant and Seed company. He is really a famous horticulturist — more of a scientist, but that's what he calls himself."

"I didn't know any of this. And I never saw you anywhere."

"I was away for two years. I have just now come back."

"Were you in Vienna?"

"Yes. I have distant relatives there. My mother was an American."

A sudden silence dropped over them for a moment.

"I was in Vienna myself, last year."

"I know it."

"You know everything, don't you?"

"Some people get talked about!" She smiled, and then was suddenly grave.

"What do you mean, exactly, by that, Miss—"

"Sandor."

"What was I saying? Oh, yes. You said some people get talked about. You heard stories—probably that I robbed the state of immense sums of money."

"You couldn't do that."

"Thank you, Miss Sandor. How old are you? Do you mind?"

"Nineteen."

"Oh, you're just a baby."

"Did you think you were a baby when you were nineteen?"

Parris was silent for a moment. His face clouded. "No, I suppose not."

"Will you sit down, Dr. Mitchell? My father should be here any moment now."

"I didn't come to see your father."

"Oh."

"I came to see the place. I used to live here."

"Oh, no! Really? Here? How nice! Why have you never been here before?"

"I couldn't bear to come back."

"Did you live here a long time."

"Ever since I can remember, until I went to Europe. I had no parents. I never remembered them. My grandmother was everything."

"I can imagine. But my father—wait till you see him! He is a great darling."

"I can imagine that."

"I think you mean a compliment, but I do not know why. I am not used to compliments."

"Well, I am going to acquaint you with some compliments. Did anyone tell you, ever, that you are as lovely as a spring day?"

"No."

"Or that you probably have the prettiest eyes in North America?"

She shook her head, and her short curls flew like sunlight about her head.

"I think you should have some coffee."

"You don't mean there will be coffee cake with it, do you?"

"What else?"

"Let's look at — everything a moment, before we go in, may we?"

"Of course. I have been out here all afternoon. I saw you coming from away over there. See? Over there where that wall it."

"Yes. I stood there looking at it. It's the very first glimpse I've had of the house since I left it—it seems a lifetime ago."

"Did you love it so much?"

"It is the only home I ever had."

Parris followed Elise into the house. He prepared himself for some sort of shock, but none came. It was pleasantly furnished. A small grand piano stood before the west window where his grandmother's desk used to be.

Elise's father came in presently. He was an amiable giant, with eyes like Elise—the same youthful blue. He had a great beard that spread over his chest. Parris noticed that his enormous hands moved as lightly as a feather among the cups and coffee things. There was something elementally good-humored about him, and gentle.

"You must come often, if my child is not tiresome."

"Elise?"

"She is a little lonely sometimes, and talks too much when she finds someone to listen."

Parris laughed.

"You will stay to supper, Dr. Mitchell?"

"I had hoped you would ask me."

* * *

After supper Elise played. Parris listened critically. She had been well schooled. It was good playing.

"Did you study in Vienna, too?"

"Oh, yes. A little."

"I'm not a teacher, but I can show you some things, I think." He drew back with mock seriousness. "Will you practice?"

"Six hours a day, if you say."

"Heavens, no! But now — where's that sonata? No, the first one. Here, now. Let's look at the slow movement. Your tone is thin . . ."

"My child, it's eleven o'clock! I had no idea. Please forgive me."

Mr. Sandor, looming through heavy strata of tobacco smoke, laughed warmly.

"It is good to have company, Dr. Mitchell. I hope you will come many times."

Elise broke in eagerly. "Yes, you must feel that it is a little your home again—if you will."

"You're awfully good. That goes to my heart, Elise."

"She means it, Doctor. So do I. For that matter, there is always room here—you know the house—won't you feel that you can come sometimes to rest, to stay over Sunday? Whenever you will."

"I would like that. And now good night. This has been a wonderful day—and evening. I'll never forget."

"You'll come — often?" Elise held her hands clasped together like a child.

"Yes. You may be sure."

Parris was surprised one evening by a visit from Peyton Graves. Peyton sat for a while, smoked, fidgeted, and made aimless comments on the weather. It was easily evident that he was under some severe strain. There were deep, sagging discolorations under his eyes—dark, almost, as bruises.

He crushed out another half-smoked cigaret. "Parris, how's old Drake getting along?"

Parris raised his eyes slowly and looked straight at Peyton, who flushed uncomfortably.

"Drake McHugh? Well, I suppose you mean in his business. I should think you'd know about that."

Peyton's color deepened painfully.

"You know, I just never did get down to see him. You know how it is."

Maybe your chances of buying a new car are better than you think

Here's clarifying information about the rules on the purchase of new automobiles—and how you can get one if you are eligible.

MORE people are entitled to buy new automobiles under Government rationing regulations than may have been generally realized.

Indeed, if you are eligible to buy a new car, and continue to drive an old and inefficient model, you may actually burn up more gasoline, consume more oil and wear out tires faster than is desirable in the interest of conservation of critical materials and supplies.

The principal groups eligible for the purchase of new cars are as follows:

1. Physicians, surgeons, visiting nurses, veterinarians and regularly practicing ministers of a religious faith, when their cars are used for professional purposes.
2. Persons engaged in fire-fighting services, police services, public health services, mail services or highway construction and maintenance of equipment when cars are used in direct line of duty.
3. Persons furnishing transportation to the public, when the purchase is required in the interest of public safety and convenience.
4. Persons engaged in the prosecution of the war, directly or indirectly, including executives, engineers, technicians and workers. Such cars must be used in transportation to or from or within factories, power plants, transportation or communication facilities, farms, lumber camps, mines, military or naval establishments, when the work done in such place of employment is essential, directly or indirectly, to the prosecution of the war.
5. Persons transporting produce and supplies to and from a farm when applicant does not own or possess a truck or other practicable means of transportation.
6. Traveling salesmen, when the car is required in selling foods and medical supplies or machinery and equipment to farms, factories, mines, oil wells, lumber camps or similar productive establishments.
7. Persons delivering newspapers, when the car is required for wholesale delivery.

The first step in getting a car is to fill out the proper application form, which we will be glad to obtain for you.

It is then necessary only to demonstrate to the local rationing board that your need for a car is bona fide to get a "certificate of purchase" entitling you to immediate delivery on the model of your own selection.

If you have any questions about your eligibility after reading the above list, we will be glad to answer them for you to the best of our ability.

If you're eligible...let us help you

SCOUTS ON LAST LAP OF FOREST PLANTING TASK

1,500 Trees to Be Planted at Appleseed Memorial Saturday Morning.

Mansfield area Boy Scouts will conclude their part in the creation of the Johnny Appleseed Memorial forest at Charles Mill dam when they plant a final allotment of approximately 1,500 seedlings Saturday morning.

About 1,000 of the young trees will be placed on an island situated in the lake north of U. S. Route 30 by Mansfield Sea Scouts who have been given use of the island by Bryce Browning, chairman of the Muskingum Valley Conservation district. The remainder of the trees will be placed in the original forest area on the mainland.

C. I. Kimmel, Richland county game protector and area scout commissioner, is directing the planting program which has been assumed by the scouts as part of their national defense and conservation program.

The project is being sponsored by the Richland County Fish and Game association headed by Gordan Ensminger.

Dedication services which had been previously scheduled for April 26 will be held during the latter part of May, Kimmel announced.

INCOME DROPS

Westinghouse Head Reports $4,124,654 for Quarter.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company yesterday reported a net profit of $4,124,654 for the first quarter of 1942, compared with a net income of $5,627,264 for the corresponding quarter last year.

Board Chairman A. W. Robertson said that despite the decline in income, which he attributed primarily to increased provision for Federal income and excess profit taxes, the company had delivered $31,000,000 worth of products more than in the first quarter of 1941.

Orders booked for the first three months this year totaled $282,387,969, against $144,793,948 in the same quarter of 1941, an increase of 95 per cent. Unfilled orders at the end of March amounted to $580,780,124 as compared to $284,311,048 on March 31, 1941. Net sales billed, representing orders delivered, amounted to $112,159,411 in the first quarter of 1942, against $81,141,645 in 1941, an increase of 37 per cent.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The Farm Security administration hears a good deal about the troubles of farmers, but probably the most quaint complaint they ever received and yet ending on a patriotic note, is conveyed in the letter below:

NEARLY 500 ATTEND THIRD CLUB MEETING

'Health for Victory' Club Hears Nutrition Authority, Observes Demonstration of Bread Baking At Westinghouse.

MOUNTING in size as the program continues, nearly 500 "Health for Victory" club members—wives and mothers of Westinghouse workers—assembled in the company auditorium yesterday at 2:30 p. m. for their third monthly meeting to hear Mrs. Julia Kiene present her "Surprise Program" and to hear her special guest, Dr. Mark Graubard from Washington, D. C.

The "Surprise Program" presented by Mrs. Kiene, manager of the Westinghouse Home Economics Institute, was a demonstration of bread baking—how simple it is to do and how important it is in a war period when the prospect of flour shortages may demand the use of substitute "meals."

Dr. Graubard, director of nutrition in industry for the office of defense health and welfare services, under the federal security agency, congratulated the members of the Mansfield "Health for Victory" club for being the first industrial organization of this kind in America. He stated, "Through the practice of clubs of this type we can make the new knowledge of eating a national institution. By using the menus offered and following the scientific rules for proper cooking, before long these scientific nutrition standards will become fashionable habits—a part of our national folklore."

"Westinghouse is offering a public service by expanding this first 'Health for Victory' club into a national program, making it available to industrial plants all over the country."

Mrs. Kiene discussed the importance of enriched flour either in bread you buy or in bread you bake. "Flour is enriched by the miller's addition of two vitamins —thiamin and niacin, and iron," she explained. "In nutritive value, one loaf of this bread is equal to three loaves of bread made from plain flour."

Drawing from his experiences in traveling and study of living habits all over the world, Dr. Graubard emphasized the difference in women's position in this country. Leading off he said: "You know this is America when you see a crowd of well-dressed, happy-looking women such as this assembled.

"When you see the common effort of both management and labor sponsoring a 'Health for Victory' club for all workers' wives you know this is America.

"A club such as this, that stimulates you to improve your own science of cooking not only aids in lifting the health level of your family, but also builds up the importance of your place in the family unit. Your homemaking job takes on dignity and importance equal to your husband's job.

"War workers," he continued, "are soldiers in overalls, and keeping them properly fed and physically fit is the new obligation of the women of America."

Dr. Graubard pointed out that the objective of a club such as this is to face the new difficulties of shortages and food rationing, and at the same time improve our food habits.

Serving the government during the emergency Dr. Graubard is on leave from his research post at Clark university, Worcester, Mass. His book, "Man, the Slave and Master," was printed in this country in 1938. Since then it has appeared in England and in French translation.

The large crowd attending yesterday's meeting all received copies of the menu-recipe guide for the month of May.

Mrs. Kiene announced that the next meeting of the club will be held May 28 in the company auditorium. She also emphasized that those women who regularly attend all sessions will be suitably rewarded at the close of the course.

Cotton Tops This Season

Left, linen-like cotton print with border trim; top right, print on a print calico frock; below, white seersucker dress with banner stripes.

By SUSAN BARDEN
(International Illustrated News Writer)

This year cotton is really going to come into its own as it has never done before. Because of priorities it will be the most used fabric, and we don't think American women will be sorry, because it is cool, washable and very new and gay

Many of these novelty cottons look best in print, so designers have created a host of clever designs, prints you never saw before. The fashion experts have followed this trend up by employing prints as trimmings, accessories, and in unusual combinations with plain fabrics, and have done much to replace the conventional trimmings and laces that used to be imported before the war.

The three dresses shown in the above photographs are bright examples of the originality and beauty of the new cotton prints

Selects Print on Print.

Bonita Granville has selected one of the latest designs, in the dress she is wearing It is a print on a print. Her casual summer frock is made of dark yellow calico printed in an old-fashioned sprig pattern in dark red and white Over this is printed a border—wide bands of yellow and red—and an occasional prickly cactus. Here, as in many of the latest dresses, the pattern of the print determines the styling of the frock. The skirt is cut so that border and cactus create an apron effect over the dress But this is just an optical illusion, because it it all one print. The dress is cut shirtwaist style, though the bodice in back hangs free, as a bolero jacket.

Banner stripes are also going to be popular favorites. Peggy Drake selected a dress made of that old friend, cotton seersucker. The dress is chalk white and the wide stripes at the waist and on the skirt are flag red. The frock has a full skirt, full peasant bodice, and is smocked at waist and hipline to fit. It has tiny, slightly puffed sleeves and a pretty, round neckline.

Another border print is an entirely different style is being worn by Anne Baxter. This model is one of the new cottons woven to resemble linen—in linen white, the flowers cherry red, the leaves green. Here the border is used literally as such—edging the gathered skirt, the straight sleeves, and the tailored collar. The dress fastens from collar to hemline with clear glass buttons. The bonnet brim of the hat is stitched while cotton with a knot of red flowers with green leaves to carry out the motif of the print.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"That will be splendid," I told the captain; "then I shan't feel that I am keeping you."

He turned back to the telephone.

"Listen, Sadie," he said. "When you get that information together you call back this number. Mrs Graham will answer the telephone, and it's okay to give her all the stuff. She's government. I'm really getting it for her. What's that? Ah, foxy girl! All right. She'll talk to you."

He handed me the receiver, an indulgent grin twitching the corners of his extremely good-looking mouth.

"Sadie's all right," he said, "although a bit on the cautious side. She'll spill everything she finds out to you when she gets it. But she wants to hear your voice now while I'm here."

He spoke into the mouthpiece again.

"Miss Sadie, Mrs. Graham wishes to meet you," he said, with a laughing burlesque of formality.

"I am so glad to meet you, or rather, hear you," I told her with a little laugh."

"And I you," she returned in the crisp, efficient voice I had noted when I called her for the captain. "I will call you just as soon as I get the information you wish."

"She will get me everything she can," I said.

"That you can bank on," he said. "And now, if you'll excuse me, I'll get back. Is there anything I can do you?"

"Not a thing," I said, "except what you just promised me—the number that gangster wants to bribe your man to call, and the message he gives him."

"You'll have 'em both as soon as we get 'em, also the money he forks over," he said

Gangster's Money a Problem.

"But I don't want to take care of the money," I protested. "Couldn't you put it in your police fund or something?"

"Not a chance," he said. "We'll keep our noses clean, even with gangsters."

"But we can't give it back; not for a time," I said: "We want the man to think that his message has been delivered."

"I am afraid that will be your headache," he said with smiling firmness."

"Just one thing more," I said. "You see I'm claiming a woman's privilege to change her mind. But you said you were sending one of your men down with the car of gangsters. Could you possibly spare the one who knows shorthand?"

He threw up his hand in a sort of involuntary salute.

"You know some of the answers yourself," he commented "Yes, that can be arranged—and he has the keenest ears on the force."

"Splendid," I told him. And now, really, I want nothing more."

The door closed behind him, but I first took a moment's rest by sinking into the big arm chair after tucking away in my purse the telephone memorandum of the unlisted private line at the Lansfield.

Then, resolutely putting everything else out of my mind until I should have more time to marshal all my facts together, I took out the carved ivory cube which I had found in the secret floor compartment, and with shaking fingers held it up to the light.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHEN TO CHANCE IT

A RUBBER bridge declarer does not dare endanger his contract by trying a play for an extra trick or tricks which, if it fails, can cause the defeat of the contract. In a match point duplicate, however, it is up to the declarer in the same contract ordinarily to attempt any device for extra tricks which is a bit more likely to succeed than to fail This would cause more fancy plays in duplicate than in rubber bridge were it not for the fact that sometimes a rubber declarer must strain with even a very unlikely play to make his contract.

In a rubber game among fine players, West took only nine tricks on this deal after the diamond 7 was led to the A. Being obliged to try the club finesse as his only chance to build a ninth trick, he sent the club Q through. Of course, if South won this, a lead through the heart K could cause trouble if North had the A. But that risk was necessary. He then played safely, leading to the club A, running the spades and taking the diamond K for his ninth trick, after which South got the rest of them with the heart A and three diamonds.

Noting that there was a pretty squeeze play in the hand for thirteen tricks, we arranged to have it put into one of the boards for a match point duplicate among fine players As we hoped, two of them got into the 3-No Trumps and made 7. After the diamond 7 went to the A, and the club Q scored, the spades were run, the club 10 finessed, the A used to drop the K, and the next two clubs gathered in. When the last was led, declarer held the diamond K-2 and the heart K. South had the heart A and the diamond Q-J, the dummy two diamonds in addition to the squeezing club. If South had discarded the heart A, West would have thrown the diamond 2 and scored the two red kings. But South tossed the diamond J, whereupon the heart K was discarded, and two diamonds completed the hand.

BRITISH AND CHINESE FORCES SPLIT BY JAPS

Trap Threatens Defenders of Burma; Enemy Reaches Lashio on Supply Road.

patches said Allied troops fighting to hold bomb-wrecked Mandalay were sharply threatened with envelopment.

British military quarters said that with the invaders standing at Lashio, splitting Allied communication lines, the British now could only withdraw rapidly northward to escape being trapped and to guard the way to India in the west.

These quarters said the separated forces would continue to fight on two different fronts, however, and might attempt to reunite by launching desperate counterattacks from the northwest and northeast.

While the British must pull out of their present positions below Mandalay, vulnerable to a Japanese encirclement sweep from the northeast, they will continue to fight along the Irrawaddy river northward from Mandalay, it was said.

The Chinese under the American Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, meantime, would attempt to make a stand on the Lashio-to-China road.

Japs Swell Forces On Mindanao

TOKYO—(By Official Japanese Wireless)—(INS)—The Japanese high command today claimed that Nipponese forces had made a new landing on the Philippines island of Mindanao.

Jap forces, it was said, landed at Cotabato, in the province of the same name, at 4 a. m. Wednesday and completed occupation at 8:30 a. m. Shortly after, it was asserted, the Japanese occupied Parang, nine miles north of Cotabato.

farmers to vote against the government wheat program.

The placards read: "Vote 'No' on Wheat and Corn Quotas. This is the U. S. A.—Keep it that Way." At the bottom of the placards was the name of Henry Fackler of Plymouth, president of the county protest group.

Guy L. Taylor, county AAA chairman, meanwhile announced that an estimated 500 county wheat farmers will vote at five places Saturday on continuance of the marketing quotas which were voted into effect at a similar referendum last May.

The state AAA office previously asked that a voting place be set up in each township but changed the plan after deciding that not enough farmers would vote to make an extensive voting set-up worthwhile.

Taylor and Howard Stone, member of the county AAA committee, said they were "having trouble" getting critics of the farm program to serve on boards at the voting places Saturday.

Taylor invited at least one critic to serve on each of the boards in answer to the Marketing Quota Protest association's charge that last year's voting was done illegally. Only one had definitely accepted today.

"Because so many of the critics we asked refused to serve or said they were too busy, we haven't been able to complete our referendum boards in the five districts," Taylor said.

He added, however, that he hoped to have at least one opponent of the program on each board for the voting Saturday.

Voting will begin at 8 a. m. and continue until 6 p. m. Farmers who grow more than 15 acres of wheat will be eligible to ballot on the marketing quotas which restrict the amount of wheat and corn farmers may sell without being penalized by the government.

A two-thirds vote of approval throughout the wheat-producing states is necessary for continuation of the marketing quotas.

District voting places in the county and townships they will serve are:

AAA office on North Diamond street, Mansfield—Madison, Mifflin, Monroe, Washington and Troy township farmers; Bellville town hall—Jefferson, Perry and Worthington townships; Springfield township house—Sandusky and Springfield townships.

Shelby town hall—Sharon, Plymouth, Cass and Jackson townships; Shenandoah grange hall—Bloominggrove, Butler, Weller, and Franklin townships.

slumped on the ground. Warner worked over the victim until a physician arrived from Lexington. Coroner L. B. McCullough said death came instantly. The accident occurred shortly before 2 p. m.

Deputy Sheriff John Whitcomb said Lewis was removing the crossarm from the broken light pole in preparation for transferring the lines to a new pole that was being set. When the old pole was broken, the wires looped within four feet of the ground, and Lewis apparently forgot the wires were so close to him when he touched the line with the metal crowbar.

Lewis was born near Mansfield on Feb. 2, 1872, the son of John B. and Harriet Bell Lewis, both of whom died recently in Mansfield.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Friday at the Byerly funeral home in Lucas. Rev. O. S. Goerner, pastor of the Lutheran church, will officiate. Burial will be in the I. O. O. F. cemetery west of Lucas.

Surviving are four brothers, Byron, C., of Glendale, Calif., Walter of Marion; Roy of Shelby, and Willis of Mansfield; and two sisters, Mrs. James McKinney of Crestline, and Mrs. Kenneth Whitman of Marion. Also surviving are a step-son, Harold Mitchell, of Mansfield, and a step-daughter, Mrs. Maude Hebel of Lucas. His wife, Mary E. Lewis, died April 11, 1937.

REVENGE AHEAD, CHINESE SAYS

Scholar, Statesman Visiting In Mansfield Says Tokyo Has More Coming.

and his eyes danced when he talked about Sino-American cooperation, about the "inevitable victory" of the United Nations in the war and—of equally great importance, the peace which will follow.

"We used to have a very strong isolationist policy in China," he said. "But we found that in this modern world no nation, no matter how populous and rich, can alone secure peace and prosperity for long.

"Today China is anxious to play her part in making the world a decent place in which to live. Only by so doing can China secure the peace and welfare of her own people.

"We are very proud to be associated with the United States, because the American people and the Chinese people have a great deal in common, in spite of our different historical backgrounds. Both nations love freedom; both are broad-minded and have a sense of humor; we look at life in much the same way; and our national ideals are almost identical.

"That is why these two nations have found it so natural to work together in perfect understanding and good will."

Col. Tchou was not dejected over recent developments because, as he pointed out, China has been absorbing the sharpest [illegible] of Japan's attack, not just since December, but for [illegible] and a half years. He emphasized that China today is engaging two-thirds of Japan's striking strength along a 2,500-mile battle front.

He reiterated President Roosevelt's statement that supplies will continue to go to China, even if the Burma road should be closed.

"I can assure you of this, he declared. "Under no circumstances will China stop doing her utmost in working with the United Nations to assure victory."

As evidence of Chiang Kai-shek's planning for the future, he cited the fact that the number of persons going to school in China has doubled in the last five years. Students in colleges and universities are deferred, because they are being groomed for the leadership of the nation in the years to come. The Japanese, in their attempt to enforce cultural as well as physical enslavement of the Chinese, have struck repeatedly at educational institutions.

"But education goes on—even though classes in some cases are held in caves, in basements, even in the open," he said.

Whether Japan will strike at Siberia is unpredictable, he said, and depends entirely on whether Hitler is successful in his battle with Russia. He expressed belief Russia will continue its aid to China.

He said there are "great possibilities" of American planes using bases in China from which to make repeated aerial attacks on Japan.

While at Malabar, he conferred with Allen Bond, chairman of the Richland county drive for China Relief, opening Sunday. The goal in the drive is $4,000.

Of the campaign for funds, Col. Tchou said:

"There is nowhere in the world where money will do so much good. For lack of anesthetics, hundreds and hundreds of operations have been performed in China without anesthesia. And five cents—only five cents, would provide the anesthetic for one operation.

"We have hundreds of thousands of war refugees, huge numbers of them small children. Three dollars in American money would keep one Chinese for a month. Aside from relieving the present terrific suffering, these funds will cement future Sino-American relations. Every cent will come back to America one hundred fold."

BRITISH PLANES RAID FOUNDRIES IN PARIS AREA

London Hears Nazis Have Put Out Three Recent Peace Feelers.

night of big-scale RAF raids against the continent.

Striking in bright moonlight, the British bombardiers rained their explosives chiefly on the Gnome-Rhone aero works at Glennevilliers, on the Seine, 10 miles from the heart of Paris, which the British described as producing warplane engines for Germany.

London reports termed the assault "extremely heavy."

Meanwhile, Stockholm dispatches said the RAF's smashing raids Monday and Tuesday nights against the German battleship hide-out at Trondheim, Norway, had caused a mass exodus of the city's inhabitants.

These reports said the evacuation had been so great that German authorities posted notices forbidding workers in many industries to leave under any circumstances. Thousands of workers have been reported toiling feverishly to develop a big naval base in Trondheim fjord, where the 33,000-ton Nazi battleship Tirpitz and other powerful German fleet units have taken shelter.

German night raiders carried out a short but sharp attack on the ancient city of Norwich, in northeast England, demolishing large stores in the shopping district and killing at least seven persons.

It was the second raid on Norwich in three nights.

On the Russian war front, Soviet dispatches said regiments of the German 5th division, described as one of Hitler's "spring offensive" divisions, were slashed to ribbons by the Red army 12 hours after they entered the front lines.

A Russian communique said the Red armies "wiped out about 1,000 enemy officers and men" in two days of fighting in the Smolensk zone, 200 miles west of Moscow.

Hitler's field headquarters acknowledged that Russian troops "succeeded in breaking through our positions" on the outskirts of a large locality, but declared they were thrown back by a counterattack.

The city was not specifically identified, but the Nazi high command said the Russians had been using strong tank forces in fighting around Orel, key Nazi base 200 miles south of Moscow.

home on the morning of the Japanese attack. He was awakened by frantic calls from friends outside his bedroom window. For more than an hour he watched the waves of Japanese planes attack the harbor, Schofield barracks, Wheeler and Hickam fields.

He and his friends rushed to the Red Cross headquarters, but found such a long line of volunteer workers that they went to the police station. There they were drawn into volunteer service.

The outbreak of the war had a serious effect on Barnett's life, in more ways than one. To start with, it interrupted his wedding. His bride-to-be, the former Katharine Wilson, was on a train en route to San Francisco on Dec. 7, after a visit with her family in Washington, D. C. She had been a home service demonstrator for the Hawaiian Electric company, and had lived on the islands for four years. She left for her vacation at home last July, and was on her way back early in December to be married.

She couldn't get passage to Hawaii after the outbreak of the war, so she stayed in San Francisco, and worked for the Air Corps ferry command.

Barnett, meanwhile, was trying to get to this country. The merchandising business of his company was dying out, and by the time he left the firm didn't have a waffle iron or any any other appliance in stock.

He finally arrived at San Pedro two weeks ago, and as soon as California's three-day law would permit, he and Miss Wilson were married.

On their way to Washington, to visit Mrs. Barnett's family, they stopped off so that Barnett and Berno could renew their acquaintance which started in 1937 when Berno spent a month in Hawaii.

Barnett was active in Junior Chamber of Commerce activities in Honolulu, and since he has been in this country has addressed several such groups. Last week he gave three talks before officers and enlisted men at Selfridge Field, Mich., where Mrs. Barnett's brother is a lieutenant in the air corps.

Barnett has plenty of interesting yarns to spin about Dec. 7, and life in Honolulu since that time. There is military rule, and blackouts are strictly enforced every night from 7:45 p. m. to 6 a. m. Anyone on the street after 9 p. m. faces possible fine or imprisonment, and a penalty frequently imposed is one pint of blood.

Barbed wire is strung along all beaches, alcoholic beverages are rationed—the weekly maximum is one quart of liquor or a case of beer, and the monthly gasoline quota is 10 gallons.

Barnett was disturbed most in the post-Dec. 7 days by the fact that he couldn't get steaks. Since arriving in this country he has at least one steak a day, and sometimes he has it for breakfast and lunch too. Yesterday was his 35th birthday, and at his request the Bernos served steak.

Residents of Honolulu believe the Roberts report on the Dec. 7 attack was entirely "fair and accurate," Barnett said.

For a time after Dec. 7 there were numerous occasions when unfounded rumors would start in the city, and circulate widely, Barnett said. However, campaigns were conducted to silence such rumors, and eventually they were stopped altogether.

The spirit among the residents, he said, is excellent.

Both Barnett and his bride are enthusiastic about Hawaii, and they are anxious to go back when conditions make that possible. They both concluded the interview in the same fashion:

"Come see us in Honolulu."

$295,200 Set as May Quota For War Bonds In Richland

pects to boost the sale to $1,000,000,000, per month.

Other county quotas included the following: Ashland—$102,600; against a seven-month average of $72,323; Crawford — $136,000, against an average of $99,388; Holmes — $15,700, against an average of $10,541; Huron—$108,200, against an average of $75,916; Knox—$82,300, against an average of $58,919; and Morrow, $16,100, against an average of $10,820.

The nation's largest quota—$95,493,000—went to New York city which embraces five counties. The smallest—$100 each—were assigned to Armstrong county, South Dakota, and Daggett county, Utah.

The average county quota throughout the nation was $195,430.

The four leaders of the canvass in Richland county are Mrs. Louis J. Ott, who heads 500 women who will make a house-to-house campaign; John L. Catlett, who heads 200 men who will contact income-earners through factories and stores; George B. Ganyard, who is working with separate committees of 25 in each township to obtain complete contact with the county's rural population; and John H. Warden, who is directing the 100 workers in Shelby's canvass.

The Junior Association of Commerce, which last Saturday sold more than $1,00 worth of war savings stamps in four booths at downtown intersections, will operate these booths every day throughout the May 2-9 period, with the assistance of numerous organizations in the city. The booths will be stocked with pledge cards, stamps, and applications for bond purchases.

Judge Rules Out Shelby Ordinance Curbing Handbills

terms of expediency rather than legalities—this court has no right to disregard decisions of the supreme court to protect the freedom of speech and press," Judge Huston said.

Attorney George W. Biddle, Mansfield, who appealed the Shelby mayor's court decision to Judge Huston, pointed out in his argument that supreme courts in five states had set aside such ordinances. Pierce was not in court for the hearing.

Judge Huston commended the Delano lodge and other Mansfield labor organizations for their work in behalf of the city.

"Our sole objective now is to terminate the war, but neither labor nor employers should lose their rights in accomplishing that aim," Judge Huston said.

Law Director Frank Long of Shelby argued briefly in behalf of the city ordinance, stating that it was passed under a provision of the Ohio general code. Mayor W. R. Morris of Shelby was in court, but offered no comment.

STOCK DONATED TO BOYS RANCH

Under-Privileged Children In West Get Donation of Cattle.

(By United Press)

MAGENTA, Tex.—Boys Ranch has become a cow ranch now.

The once under-privileged youngsters living at Old Tascosa, 40 miles northwest of Amarillo, had a "Boys Ranch" for two years before it became a real cow ranch.

It came about, said Supt. Alton G. Weeks, as a result of a recent radio broadcast from Amarillo by a group of Boys Ranch residents. Five Panhandle cattlemen happened to hear the broadcast, and one asked: "How can those boys have a ranch without cattle?" He added that he would give the ranch a cow.

The other four cattlemen nodded agreement, and each sent a registered Hereford to the ranch. This story was printed by a newspaper, and other donations followed, now the ranch has 33 fine beef cattle.

Boys Ranch was established two and a half years ago by patrons of the Maverick Boys' club of Amarillo. It was designed to give opportunities to underprivileged youngsters. Old Tascosa once was a rowdy frontier cow-town where Billy the Kid visited and gunfire frequently resounded from the dusty streets.

The cattle trade moved to Amarillo and Tascosa was deserted, until a rancher gave the property—abandoned courthouse and all—to the Maverick club.

During 1941, a $15,000 dormitory-gymnasium building was completed and 1,320 acres of land added to the 80 original acres. Each boy has a 4-H Club farm project. Livestock sales by the youngsters last year totaled $3,300. Weeks said, and in addition 3,365 quarts of fruits and vegetables were preserved for the table.

The former Oklahoma Boy Scout executive who has been superintendent of Boys Ranch from the start, reports proudly that the first "graduate" has a job and that his employer described the youngster as "the best worker . . . and most courteous boy" he had ever met.

Cites Importance Of Wood as a Natural Resource

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—(INS)— The importance of wood as a natural resource in war time is being stressed by J. L. VanCamp, Purdue university extension forester.

Priorities demand metals and wood replaces metals in many places, he pointed out.

"If a farmer has a corn field choked with weeds and cuts the corn, he has weeds left," Van Camp said. "If a dairyman has a herd, from which he sells all good calves and breeds from scrubs, he winds up with a herd of scrubs. This is what many woods owners have done with their timber. Overcutting and removing the best kinds leaves a woods full of tree weeds and culls.

"Fire injures large trees and causes scars and butt rot. Pasturing removes the new trees and damages the old."

The specialist said that good timber can be grown by leaving trees to good size, preferably 20 inches or better on the stump. Defective or poor species should be cut out for fuel.

HAS AUTOGRAPH COLLECTION

BOSTON — (AP) — Courtenay Build, a Boston University trustee has carried on a hobby started by his father and as a result has a collection of autographs of world personages dating from 1500.

The collection, started in Civil war days, includes the signatures of every U. S. president from Washington to Roosevelt. One of the most valuable signatures is that of Martha Washington, which is one of her four authentic autographs in existence.

Other personages represented are Napoleon, Cardinal Richelieu, Queen Elizabeth, Benedict Arnold, Queen Anne and such leaders of the French Revolution as Danton, Robespierre and Talleyrand.

DON'T FORGET ANCHOR

MT. CLEMENS, Mich.—(UP)— William Clowe had a bright idea for straightening the bent radiator grill of his car. He took a rope and tied the grill to a tree. He backed the car gently and the grill pulled back into shape. Then he forgot about the rope and drove off, pulling out the entire grill.

Mobile Shoe and Tailor Shops to Go With Troops

BOSTON—(INS—Something new has been added in the United States army.

A new wrinkle introduced in the armed forces will keep the wrinkles out of millions of Uncle Sam's doughboys' clothes by having a rolling tailor shop and also a mechanized cobbler shop to travel with troops.

According to Colonel Mark L. Ireland, corps area quartermaster, the shops are mounted on two trailers and are technically known as a Mobile Clothing and Textile Repair Unit.

The travelling tailor shop was developed at Camp Lee, Va., replacement training center.

THE WAR TODAY

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
(Of the United Press War Desk)

Great Britain's shattering aerial offensive on German war centers, now in its eighth day, is paying dividends, according to reports from London, and judging from the reaction of Germany.

German reports on the raids speak invariably of damage only to homes, hospitals, churches and schools, seeking to create the impression that the British indiscriminately are bombing civilian centers.

That is not true. It is not even necessary to take Britain's word for it. A list of the points attacked show that they are the most vital centers of German or German-controlled war industry and communication. They include Kiel, Luebeck, Rostock, Cologne, Trondheim in Norway and the Gnome-Rhone and Goodrich works near Paris.

Civilian casualties are inevitable in such raids, but it seems fairly obvious that the British are not adoptng the German policy of trying to shatter the enemy morale by deliberate raids on civilian and cultural centers. The R. A. F. is picking the most vital spots and taking great risks by daylight and moonlight to make sure that their new super-explosive bombs and incendiaries hit the target.

One primary object is to check the flow of German material to the Russian front. Reports from London and Stockholm indicate that the British are meeting with considerable success. That is supported by the nature of the raids and the number of planes employed.

London revealed today that since April 22, the British have employed 1,000 bombers and about 3,000 fighters in raids on Germany and the occupied countries. In that time, the British suffered the surprisingly low loss of 100 planes, or only one in 40. The Germans lost 54 planes.

The British attribute the low rate of losses to German economy in sending up combat planes to fight the invaders. They report more German fighters in evidence now however, and believe Germany may be forced to risk a larger proportion of her air reserves.

In the same period, the British estimate that the Germans used not more than 250 bombers in retaliatory raids on England. That is about the number used last year in a single raid on London.

The German raids have not been directed at industry or communications, but at centers of population, historic places and cathedral towns. Again it is not necessary to take Britain's say-so for it. The Germans themselves have promised to bomb every British town and city marked with three stars in Baedeker's, meaning places of historic interest.

CARDS WILL BE HARDER TO GET THAN GASOLINE

That's Opinion of Official on Rationing Plan in Eastern States.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Officials of the office of price administration and the office of petroleum coordination were virtually agreed today that the hardships to be expected from the forthcoming gasoline rationing program in the east have been "greatly exaggerated."

Director Robert E. Allen of the production division of the office of petroleum coordinator Harold L. Ickes also said it was almost certain that there would be no rationing of gasoline in the Pacific northwest and that it may be possible soon to remove all restrictions on sales in that area unless demand increases sharply.

He had good news for the 10,000,000 eastern motorists who will have to have ration cards May 15 to buy gasoline.

"Everybody probably will be able to obtain all the gasoline he needs for his minimum requirements," he said. "I'd guess the worst hardships will be the inconveniences of getting ration cards to buy it."

Office of price administration officials listed these facts to support Allen's assertion that severity of the rationing program has been exaggerated:

1. Even non-essential drivers will be allowed seven units of gasoline—each unit probably will be around six gallons—to be used during the period from May 15 to July 1, when a permanent program will be started. A motorist can use his quota all at once or spread it over the entire period, making vacation plans possible after all.

2. Drivers who depend upon their automobiles to get to work will be allowed all the gasoline they need for this purpose — if they can convince their rationing boards that no other transportation is available.

3. Machinery will be set up to allow any motorist who thinks his ration is unfair to appeal for a larger amount.

4. After July 1, the program will be set up in such a manner that motorists still will be able to save up their coupons for long vacation trips.

12 KILLED IN KANSAS STORM

Tornado Sweeps Town, Cuts 10-Mile Swath Through Farm District.

(By International News Service)

OBERLIN, Kan. — Twelve persons were known dead, a four-year-old boy was missing and 16 persons were in hospitals today in the wake of a tornado which leveled farm homes at the eastern edge of this northwestern Kansas town last night.

Two or three entire families were "wiped out" by the high wind, which cut a half mile swath and extended 10 miles through a farm district.

Mayor John C. Nitsch said five persons were killed when one residence was destroyed, and four died in a nearby dwelling. All buildings at another farm were completely destroyed, but six members of the family were able to make their way into Oberlin in an automobile which escaped damage.

Nitsch said 12 bodies had been recovered. Nine of the persons injured were taken to a hospital at McCook, Neb., and seven others were hospitalized in Oberlin.

The mayor said the damage was extensve, but could give no estimate.

The tornado struck at 10:30 p. m. (MWT) and "everything grew quiet in only a few minutes," Nitsch reported.

The fourth interceptor command ordered the alert at 10:24 last night and this was followed by the blackout in San Diego at 10:40 because of the presence of unidentified planes over the west coast.

The "all clear" was sounded at 11:15 p. m. when the planes were found to be "friendly." Radio stations resumed broadcasting at once. It was the second time in less than 24 hours that radio stations in the Los Angeles area had been ordered off the air.

HENDERSON HINTS POSSIBLE RENT CONTROL FOR ALL OHIO

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Ohio landlords in defense rental area towns soon will be required to register their dwellings, and the entire state will be brought under federal control if necessary to prevent spiraling rents, Price Administrator Leon Henderson said today.

Owners must register with a local rent administrator houses, apartments, trailers and all other property rented for living quarters, Henderson said.

Regulations will be issued later for hotels, rooming and boarding houses in the areas.

Henderson expressed belief that rent control in defense areas would tend to keep rents "reasonable" in other portions of the state but declared the control program would be extended to cover all of Ohio if an upward trend developed.

OPA field representatives will watch rents in non-defense areas during the next 60 days as well as those in controlled areas, he added.

Fourteen defense rental areas were created in Ohio yesterday in addition to four previously designated. Most rents were frozen as of last March 1, although April 1 and July 1, 1941, were specified for others

Regulations prohibit landlords from eliminating services provided tenants before the freezing order date but owners may petition for rent advances in event of marked increase in services or capital improvements.

Rent controls do not apply to tenant farmers, domestic servants or caretakers given living accommodations as part compensation.

Rents of April 1, 1941, will prevail generally on housing units owned by federal, state and local governments.

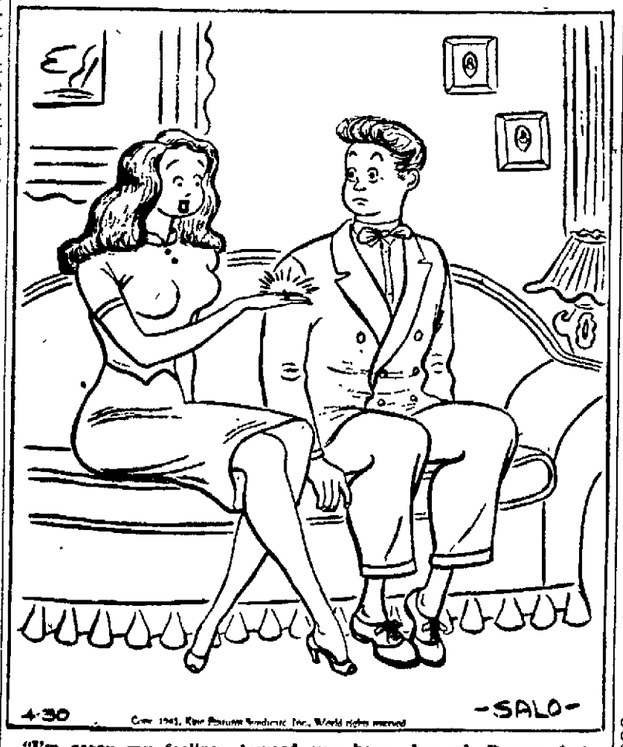
Laff-a-Day



"I'm sorry my feelings toward you have changed, Danny, but I still feel the same about the ring!"

Pleasant Hill lake at the southeast corner of Richland county had 1,200 more channel catfish in its waters today to make the fishing prospects better for Richland county anglers this summer. Averaging more than a foot long, the fish were brought from Sandusky bay and Lake Erie and placed in the artificial lake by the Richland County Fish and Game Protective association in cooperation with the Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources. The lake will be stocked with white bass in May. During the past year, small and large mouth bass, pickerel, bluegills, crappies, rock bass, and bullheads have been placed in the lake.

Now that sugar rationing is here and the use of honey as a substitute is coming into its own the Buckeye Garden club will bring all the practical uses of honey before the public at an open meeting in June. Present plans call for an out-of-town speaker versed on bees and their product and the theme will be in line with the general nutrition program.

There will be a big representation of Mansfielders in the audience in Cleveland Sunday at 8:15 p. m. when a score of Hollywood luminaries give a show in Public hall for the benefit of the Army and Navy Relief fund. Tickets for the show are being sold in Mansfield only at the Madison theater, according to Grattan Johnston, manager of Warner theaters here. Prices begin at $1.10 and range upward to $3.30 for general admission. Patron tickets are being sold for $5.50 and $10 each. Among the stars who will participate in the show are Bob Hope, Claudette Colbert, Charles Boyer, Laurel and Hardy, Eleanor Powell, and Cary Grant. The show is touring the country, giving benefit performances.

Whether Mansfield abandons the orange traffic paint used on city streets at present will depend upon tests with white paint being made by the city's traffic squad. Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals said today that the intersection of Mulberry street and Park avenue west is being painted with white paint as a test of its visibility at night and also for its wearing ability. If the white paint is suitable, Commissioner Boals said white paint would be used for traffic markings, because it could also be used as a guide during blackouts.

CO-AUTHOR OF MEASURE SEES DEFEAT

Expects Tabling of Labor, Profits Measure; WLB to Keep Flexible Policy.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— By a single vote margin, the house naval committee tabled today a measure to limit war profits, lift the statutory work week limit from 40 to 48 hours and freeze the status quo of closed and open shops for the duration of the war.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Rep. Howard W. Smith, D., Va., co-sponsor of labor-profits control legislation that would extend the basic work week to 48 hours, conceded today that the bill "appears to be dead."

His admission of defeat came as the house naval affairs committee prepared to vote on a motion to table the bill sponsored by Smith and its chairman, Carl Vinson, D., Ga., and after Chairman William H. Davis of the war labor board said the board's policy toward wage increases would continue flexible, "but less flexible than it has been."

Davis said he did not interpret President Roosevelt's message to congress as a prohibition against wage increases where they are needed to maintain "adequate" standards of living, but as meaning that the upward trend of wages should halt.

Labor is going to have a harder time getting wage increases through the board, he said, but "some adjustment" will be made.

Defeat or drastic modification of the Smith-Vinson bill appeared probable as the naval affairs committee met, although Vinson refused to concede defeat. He still hoped to "get some kind of legislation."

If the committee votes to table the bill it may mean the end, for the time being, of congressional agitation to revise war labor policy. The senate has postponed action on labor legislation temporarily and, two members of the war labor board were said to have advised the senate labor committee yesterday against legislative action.

Smith, who has been the most ardent advocate of restrictive labor legislation in the house, believed the president's opposition to alteration of labor standards and the recent testimony of war agency officials against labor legislation was insurmountable.

The Smith-Vinson bill also contains a profits control clause, but most congressmen now are coming around to the view that that problem can best be dealt with through excess profits taxation and renegotiation of contracts.

White Way Douses Million Lights Tonight In Test

NEW YORK—(INS)—The "Great White Way" with its million twinkling lights will be dark tonight when midtown Manhattan undergoes its initial blackout test.

The 20-minute test, which starts at 9:30 p. m. will plunge all of Manhattan into darkness from the Hudson to the East river and from Eleventh street to 123rd street.

Broadway's huge advertising signs, symbol of the nation's No. 1 theatrical city, were doused, apparently for the duration, after army officials announced the policy of "easy going" had ended in its effort to eliminate the glow of lights which has proved helpful to enemy submarines.

Meanwhile, Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine, who is in charge of enforcing the dim-out, said both night baseball and boxing were out but some army officials told promoters that such a move was not contemplated at the moment.

DIVIDEND DEFERRED

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

I feel so chivalrous today. Like a hunk of old armour astride a white steed. Bright plume waving valiantly aloft, and a strip of milady's rationed hose tied jauntily on the left arm. Or nailed carelessly on the bosom of the armour plate.

What ho! milords, for the combat and jousting! Have at 'em, then, and smite 'em tooth and nail, hip and thigh. Bloody deeds there'll be this day on the stadium jousting turf, I warrant ye.

* * *

"And all for what?" ye may query in the voice of Littlejohn come but lately.

Why for milady's hand, that's for what. So up and at 'em knights and knaves, slaves and varlots. Let the turf be strewn with broken noggins, and soaked with the bright red blood of strife and battle. Rattle their bones, ye men of valour, and take the lady home to squalour.

* * *

Whoever wins the joust this day
Shall cart fair Guinevere away
To castle wall, or hut of clay,
And there shall muse upon the way
He did his rivals all but slay.
But if they're giving Guin away,
Count me out, Bud, cause I won't play.
More to my liking is the gay
Enchantress sitting just this way,
Now there is one—What's that you say?
That's the queen?—Nay! Say me nay!
Ods blood, I swoon.; Cart me away.

The news that they are electing a queen of May out at the high school to reign over the Mansfield school track meet affects me strangely.

Electing a queen for a joust? We didn't do it that way back in the good King Arthur's day. If we wanted a queen and some guy says "No, you can't have her." why, we just bashed the geezer abaft the beezer and carted the gal away.

But things are different, now. Heigh-ho.

Yes, and the jousts are different too. They still gather on the greensward for feats of strength and valour. But instead of mailed armour, the boys wear next to nothing, and that little you could put in the mail for a 3-cent stamp.

And instead of jousting with javelins and lances, they run, and cavort and do fancy dances over sticks of wood that are called hurdles.

The only thing left, until a year or so ago, were the javelins, and now they've taken them away.

Too dangerous, they said, to be hurling those javelins about. Someone might get hit. Huuh! And you think it wouldn't hurt to get hit by one of those small cannon balls with which they put the shot?

FELLER HURLS

RICHMOND, Va.—(AP)—It will be rapid Robert Feller pitching against Lefty Porter Vaughan when baseball teams of the Norfolk Naval Training station and Camp Lee meet here tomorrow night. The Cleveland fireballer and the Philadelphia Athletics' portsider are two of ten major league players who will compete in the sailor-soldier contest.

Joe Heving Saves One For Tribe

Other Relief Hurlers Star In Day's Games.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

RELIEF pitchers get only fleeting attention from the fans and often little credit from their own clubs, yet they are the wheel horses who pull the biggest loads in the major leagues.

Yesterday 15 of the 16 teams had to call for help from the bull pen.

The Cleveland Indians ran their winning streak to ten games with an 11-6 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. This sounds like a big batting spree and it was—25 hits. But the A's were put out of commission for the last 5⅔ innings by Joe Heving after they had routed Al Milnar in the fourth.

* * *

The Indians also ran up their highest score of the season, including six tallies in the fourth frame for the largest total in any one inning. And the result put them a game and a half in front of Detroit.

Roy Weatherly led the 13-hit blast with a home run, a triple and a double.

The Brooklyn Dodgers bagged their fifth straight victory in a ten-inning affair at Cincinnati. Dolph Camilli gained the fans' spotlight by hitting his fourth home run of the year, and second in two days, after two were out in the ninth to force the game into overtime. Then the Dodgers banged three runs on three hits off Bucky Walters to win in the tenth.

After Kirby Higbe gave way to a pinchhitter in the eighth, Newt Kimball and Johnny Allen paired in pitching three no-hit innings for the Dodgers. Altogether the Reds made only four hits, one of them Frank McCormick's fourth homer of the season in the second inning.

The Boston Braves crushed the Chicago Cubs 8-3 and all eyes were on Froilan (Nanny) Fernandez, the rookie batting sensation, who hit a homer, a double and two singles to extend his personal hitting streak to eight games. However, another rookie deserving praise was Johnny Sain, who took charge on the mound when Al Javery was knocked out in the fifth and allowed only one hit in the last 4⅓ innings.

At Pittsburgh the Pirates gave Luke Hamlin an early four run lead over the Philadelphia Phils, but neither he nor John Lanning could hold it. Finally Rookie John Barrett singled in the tenth to drive in the run that won 7-6. Tip Sewell pitched no-hit ball for one inning.

The St. Louis Cardinals, blanked for eight innings, drove Carl Hubbell off the mound with a three-run rally that tied the New York Giants in the ninth. Ace Adams came out of the bull pen for the eighth time in 15 games and put out the fire. The Giants sneaked a run across in the tenth, and Adams allowed no hits to save the 4-3 margin.

Sid Hudson, although allowing only four hits, blew a four-run lead Washington gave him over the Chicago White Sox and was replaced by Bill Zuber in the sixth. Zuber pitched no-hit ball for 3⅔ inning and the Senators got up steam again to win 10-4.

At Boston Yank Terry was within one batter of a shutout and suddenly lost control. He gave two walks and two singles to let Detroit tie the Red Sox at 2-all. Then Mace Brown, who used to be a great relief specialist, gave two more singles and the Tigers won 4-2.

The only pitcher to go the route was Dennis Galehouse of the St. Louis Browns, who beat the New York Yankees again 11-6 to knock last year's world champions into third place in the American league. Galehouse allowed eight hits.

BOWLING LEAGUES HAVE DINNER DATES

Transportation league bowlers will hold their annual banquet next Tuesday night at the Sons of Herman.

Tonight the City A league dines at the Eagles, and the women's Thursday night league at Mifflin Inn.

Hilborn Rolls 722 for Title

Becomes First Scratch Bowler to Take Crown.

Art Hilborn, president of the Mansfield City Bowling association, last night became the first scratch bowler ever to win a championship in the five years of the association's annual city handicap tournament.

* * *

Picking the hottest night of the season, Hilborn banged over the maples for a 722 count to take the singles title, passing Ed Funston, previous leader, by 30 pins.

Funston, clinging to second place in the singles, won the all-events championship.

Bob Bieri and Bill Brinning, who had led the doubles race for two weeks, were ousted on the last night of the tournament by Clarence Dawson and Johnny Bernat who crashed through to the championship as Bernat had one of his infrequent hot nights.

Art Rattan Back Department won the team championship on the first night of the tournament.

* * *

Complete scores with handicap had not been tabulated yet this morning and were unavailable for publication.

Millers, Saints Stage Run Spree

Minneapolis and St. Paul crammed 25 runs into their ball game yesterday, the bigest scoring spree thus far in the American association season.

* * *

Topping the freak were an eight-run inning for the Saints and a seven-run inning for the Millers. Minneapolis finally forged a 13-12 verdict which nudged its rival in the basement.

* * *

In the meantime, Milwaukee vaulted into the leadership with a 6-4 count over Toledo.

Only two games were played.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(WW)—The war may be rough on the minor leagues but apparently baseball will keep right on going . . . for example when the class "C" Arizona-Texas league folded up, Tucson, Ariz., organized an eight-club semi-pro circuit . . . the league includes two army teams and the ball park is practically on one of the posts, which should provide plenty of customers at ten cents a throw for men in uniform . . . and Michigan towns are replacing the Michigan State league with a nonprofessional loop that may take in twelve clubs.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Kenneth Jones, Peoria (Ill.) Journal Transcript: "There is some slight agitation to have Joe Louis try his hand against some southpaws pitching, Melio Bettlina, the southpaw, being the chief agitator."

WRONG NUMBER

When Bron C. Braevich, coach at St. Bede's academy at Peru, Ill., read that Aquinas high school of Chicago had been admitted to the Illinois high school association, he wrote there suggesting a football game. He received this reply: "Dear Mr. Bacevich: We have 466 lovely young ladies at our Dominican high school. If you still are interested in a football game, please let me know.—Miss Elsie Bergman, coach."

HOME WINS TITLE

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home of Xenia won the Class A junior matches conducted by the Ohio Rifle and Pistol association, the Firestone Juniors of Akron took first in Class B and Wooster Junior Rifle club was high in Class C.

EFFORT MADE TO FORM BALL CLUB

Well, well, what's this? Mansfield may have a baseball team this summer after all.

Johnny Urschel is attempting to organize a hard ball team for Dickson's Market, and says he has eight players lined up already. But he needs more. Players interested should call Urschel at 4936-2 after 6:30.

Softballers Delay Entry

Lack of Interest in Sport Hurts Schedule.

Unless more interest is shown in the softball situation in Mansfield, the deadline for entries in the three leagues must be extended, according to Don Cram, secretary of the commission.

We do not want to extend the time, as it will give us a late starting date this year, so all teams are requested to get their entry blanks and fees to the secretary before Friday evening," Cram said.

With only three days remaining a last minute rush is expected in entries as a possible eight team industrial league has been assured by factory representatives.

The Church league has only one team definitely in this year and that is the First Congregationals, last year's champions.

* * *

Plans call for the establishing of three leagues this year, the Church league on Monday evenings, Industrial league on Wednesday, and an Independent commercial league for Friday. The leagues were originally scheduled to get underway the week of May 10 but with an extended deadline it is doubtful whether schedules could be arranged by that time.

IRISH GRIDDERS STAGE SPRING GAME

NOTRE DAME, Ind. — (AP) — Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame will reveal the results of spring practice experiments with T-formations when he sends his 1942 varsity against graduating stars of 1941 in a regulation game Saturday.

Proceeds will be donated to a fund for the education of the three children of Tommy Yarr, 1931 Notre Dame center and captain, who died during the Christmas holidays.

Three Colts From Way Out West In Texas Go In Derby

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)— Kentuckians boast of their great race horses and rightly so, but a trio of three-year-olds from the Texas cow country figures right strongly to have something to say about it when the bugle sounds for the 68th derby at Churchill Downs Saturday.

* * *

Without making an attempt to pick the best of the three, they are Ben Whitaker's game little chestnut, Requested, and the double-barreled entry of Valdina Orphan and Hollywood from Emerson Woodward's Valdina Farm.

The records of all three are so flattering that it wouldn't be surprising to see Requested go postward at about 5:30 p. m. (CWT), mighty near equal choice in the betting with Mrs. Payne Whitney's combination of Devil Diver and Shut Out, and the Woodward entry not far behind.

There was a rumor going around last night that neither Valdina Orphan or Hollywood would start due to lameness, but heads of the stable were willing, not only to wager you plenty that their horses would be in the parade to the post, but that one of them would be in front at the end of the $75,000-added mile-and-a-quarter run.

Whitaker took Requested out of the yearling sale for $1,300 and promptly he became the second best bargain of 1941, bowing only to Al Sabath's Alsab in that respect. In 16 trips to the barrier, he finished out of the money only once and won $49,850. After an unimpressive three-year-old debut the son of Questionnaire came from behind to take the Flamingo at Hialeah Park and further qualified for the derby by winning last Saturday's Wood at Jamaica from end to end. That boosted his total earnings to $102,800.

Neither of Woodward's horses can come close to Requested from an earnings standpoint but Orphan has run out of the money only twice in 17 starts.

* * *

Hollywood, undefeated until he finished fourth in the trial under Georgie Woolf's Snug Hold, was foaled in Ireland, where he won one race, the son of Fairford was purchased for $12,000.

He didn't race in this country as a two-year-old but won two races before coming to the Downs. If it comes up mud, the Irishman is considered Woodward's best bet.

The horsemen on the backstretch, however, settled on Devil Diver and his stablemate, Shut Out, as the pair to beat.

Midget Races Draw 22 Cars

Entries Won't Close Until Sunday Morning.

Twelve more entries have been received for the Midget Auto Races at the Mansfield Fairgrounds next Sunday afternoon. This brings the total of entrants to 22 and the entries do not close until Sunday morning.

Promoter B. Ward Beam, now believes that his entry list will run well over thirty. In addition to the midget entries Beam says he has added several more daredevil stunts. They are the T-Bone Crash, the crash through a solid brick wall, head-on collision in mid air, the dive-bomber crash, the brick wall crash. There will be eight midget events and 12 daredevil numbers.

The new entries are: George Selzer, Akron; Gays Biro, Penisula, Ohio; Lee Budds, Detroit; A. E. Kinney, Youngstown; Bob Harner, Akron; Cliff Siwgart, Port Clinton; Danny Danison and Howard Marlen both of Detroit; Joe Zan, Willoughby; Owen Jackson, Euclid, O., Sam Wolfrom, Utica and George Schmauch, Ravenna.

* * *

The Fairgrounds race track is being worked daily to put it in smooth condition and Beam promises to keep sprinklers on the track all night before the races and have them on the ground ready to go into action anytime they are needed during the afternoon.

Majors Await Ruling

Eastern Blackouts Hurt Night Schedule.

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK—(INS)—Major league baseball today awaited the final answer as to whether night games can be played in the east.

Taking advantage of President Roosevelt's request that baseball arrange a schedule to permit as many persons as possible engaged in war work to attend games, baseball promptly and possibly unwisely altered rules and revised judgment to enable each club to stage 14 night games at home. Previously the rules had called for seven games.

* * *

At the time the change was made major league baseball strutted about presuming to say that it was doing something for the war effort, when, as a matter of fact, the new routine meant nothing more nor less than more revenge for baseball, which used the president's suggestion as a peg upon which to hang its own aims.

* * *

Major league baseball has been reluctant to accept the change to night games and probably has been justified In any case, some clubowners have fought for increased night games against the bitter opposition of others.

As things stand now, the next few days will tell whether the clubs along the eastern seaboard can carry out their night schedules. New York in particular is affected. Military authorities are trying to decide whether a lighted up ball park should be exempt from blackouts or dimouts.

Off-hand I would say that major league baseball is no more exempt than a big blazing sign in New York's Times Square.

New York's commissioner of police, Louis Valentine, hints that all night sports outdoors probably are out for the duration, and this means also the proposed Joe Louis heavyweight championsip defense against Billy Conn or Bob Pastor. The fight racket can get around that situation simply by moving this major extravaganza somewhere inland or by staging it here in the afternoon.

Baseball can holds its games in the afternoon, as it did for so long before Larry MacPhail introduced the night game at Cincinnati as a fore-runner to the wholesale adoption of night games all over.

At the moment, however, everything is strictly up in the air as to what is going to happen. Commissioner Valentine, who is charged with handling the blackouts here, seems convinced that night sports outdoors must go, but army and navy officials are holding their fire.

All of the baseball people perfunctorily accepted what may come in advance. If blackouts are ordered they will simply shift their schedules into the afternoon.

Promoter Mike Jacobs likewise is prepared to do whatever he may have to do with his midsummer promotions.

Before sports definitely are called off without further recourse there is a possibility that a test will be made to determine just how much of a lighted background the ball parks may afford to enemy raiders

The whole purpose of all this is to prevent submarines and warships from using a lighted New York skyline as a backdrop for blasts against U. S ships. Baseball and boxing can't have any arguments against the findings.

ABC Nearing Final Curtain

Leaders Seem Sure as Last Two Weeks Reached.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The American Bowling Congress tournament swung into its final two weeks today with the rest of the scheduled keglers given slight hope of displacing current top scorers.

The Chicago Budweisers' 3131 total for five-man teams set March 18 looks bigger with each passing day. John Stanley of Cleveland with 756 in the singles has the second highest individual score ever bowled in the ABC while the 1377 tallied by the doubles team of Ed Nowicki and George Baier of Milwaukee gains prestige daily

The only leader who appears in a position to be surpassed is Tod Moskal of Saginaw, Mich., with 1973 in the all-events, a score which hasn't been good enough to win the event since 1934.

* * *

Deadlocked for high individual score yesterday were Charles Morrison of Detroit and Myron Reynolds of Robinson, Ill., with 661.

The first five leaders in each event remain undisplaced.

Galion Cops 2nd League Victory

GALION—Galion won its second league victory over Bucyrus in a tight game Wednesday afternoon with a score of 6-5. The game was featured by a home run by Tompkins, Galion first sacker, during the sixth inning. With one man on base, this score was the one which put Galion ahead.

Ernst settled down after a shaky start and pitched fine ball, walking none and allowing only two hits the last four innings. Ramsey tripled in Galion's second to drive in the tying runs.

SCORES KAYO

BUFFALO, N. Y. —(AP)— Anton Christoforidis, 168½, Cleveland, scored a knockout victory over Pauli Mahoney, 167, Buffalo, in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-round boxing match here last night.

THEATERS

Based on Noel Coward's gay comedy, "Tonight at 8:30," the current Ohio attraction, "We Were Dancing," features Norma Shearer and Melvyn Douglas as royal refugees who are stranded in America and living luxuriously as professional house guests. When the two meet and later marry they learn to their amazement that they are not nearly as much in demand as partners for extra guests as they were when they were single. Lee Bowman helps solve the problem as a Yankee lawyer and others in the cast are Reginald Owen, Alan Mowbray and Florence Bates.

Trapeze performers, bicyclists, comedy acts, singers and dancers are featured in The Gay Nineties Revue the current stage attraction at the Madison. Presenting the type of entertainment popular with audiences several decades ago and a chorus of dancing belles who revive songs and steps of the past the revue is headed by Joe Termini in his comedy character, "The Music Master." Lupe Velez and Leon Erroll are appearing in another "Mexican Spitfire" comedy on the screen, this one dealing with mistaken identities. Called "Mexican Spitfire At Sea," the picture has an ocean liner for its setting and a cast that includes Zazu Pitts and Marion Martin.

The sidesplitting story of a scientist who is working on a formula for bringing the dead to life is told in Edward Everett Horton's comedy, "The Body Disappears," showing at the Ritz. Jeffrey Lynn as a prospective bridegroom is the victim in the picture and Jane Wyman plays the other half of the romantic lead. Vera Lewis and Herbert Anderson are other players. "Right to the Heart," the second picture, has Brenda Joyce, Joseph Allen, jr., and Cobina Wright, jr., in the gay story of a playboy who turns boxer.

George Sanders plays a detective who is as smooth with the ladies as he is detecting crime in "The Gay Falcon," romantic thriller, at the Park. He encounters a gang of jewel thieves operating on a large scale and runs into further difficulties when his fiancee disapproves of the whole thing. Anne Hunter, Wendy Barrie and Allen Jenkins are in the cast. Gene Autry and Ken Maynard appear in the second feature, "In Old Santa Fe."

"Lady Be Good," based on the popular Broadway comedy by the same name, is the attraction at the Majestic Thursday and Friday. Ann Sothern and Robert Young appear as a couple of song writers destined for fame until the husband bogs down under impending success. Eleanor Powell is in the cast. Gene Autry and Ken Maynard appear in the second feature, "In Old Santa Fe."

GAY NINETIES REVUE CARRIES AUDIENCES BACK TO 'OLD DAYS'

The Gay Nineties Revue, a variety show that played 14 consecutive weeks for the soldiers at Jefferson Barracks in St. Louis, Md., opened yesterday at the Madison and brought back memories of the days of the Gibson girls and the man on the flying trapeze.

Presented against a restaurant-musical hall backdrop picturing the personalities famous in the days of Steve Brodie, the show featured a dancing chorus that revived the "CanCan" and "Flora Dora."

The review carries a show-stopper in the person of Joe Termini whose musical travesties on the violin, banjo, and Hawaiian steel guitar have amused audiences for years in this country and abroad.

Termini, called back repeatedly for encores last night, shared the spotlight with several other entertainers who are experts in their line. These included Jack La Vier, who kept up on running fire of patter while performing on the trapeze, and Mel Hall, who performed feats on unicycles and various sizes.

The show featured several other skilled acts including the athletic Deans and Don Baldon. The latter combined acrobatic with juggling and balancing and climaxed his act by doing a tap dancing routine on his hands.

Guy Cherney, a singer, acts as master of ceremonies for the show that closes here tonight and moves on to Lima and several other Ohio cities before going into Chicago to be re-routed.

$50,000 LOAN OFFERED TO U. S.

WILMINGTON, Del. — (AP) — A $50,000 loan — interest free — has been offered to the United States government by the North American Mutual Insurance company of Delaware.

The life of the loan would extend for the "duration and a reasonable period thereafter," according to John W. Kane, president of the company, who sent the proposal to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr.

Kane, who hopes other organizations and individuals will take similar action, says "we are of the opinion that millions of idle dollars available for use without interest by the United States will help to hold down the national debt and at the same time relieve the burden of the individual taxpayer."

American Women In Mexico to Aid U. S. Red Cross

MEXICO CITY—(INS)—The American women living in Mexico have entered whole-heartedly into aiding the war effort of the United States, and have raised $50,000 for the use of the Red Cross.

During January, the American Colony committee sponsored by the Mexican Red Cross was formed. Under International Red Cross rules there can be no American Red Cross in a foreign country.

In a two weeks' drive just completed $50,000 was realized to be used for medical supplies, food and shelter for war victims throughout the world. While only Americans were solicited, French, Mexicans, British and other friends of the United Nations unstintedly gave support to the drive. A ragged Mexican Indian offered to give one peso (twenty cents) a month. A former German army officer gave five pesos, and said that he regretted that he couldn't give more. A hotel bellhop gave 27 centavos (a little over five cents)—all the money he had.

The work program of the committee includes training in first aid, nursing, and automobile mechanics.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

HORSE PROVIDES FLEXIBLE POWER

ST. PAUL—(U.P.)—Dr. George A. Pond, University of Minnesota agricultural economist, who recently completed a survey of farm records in Winona county, said the horse has several points in its favor over mechanized equipment.

"The horse provides a more flexible power source inasmuch as one or more horses can be hitched for use, depending on the kind of work to be done," he said. "In addition, the horse works better than a tractor on soft or wet ground."

Pond said it cost approximately $70 annually in Winona county to keep a horse on a farm. The average horse, he said, worked 748 hours a year making, a per hour cost of less than 10 cents.

"KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOR"

SAN FRANCISCO—(U.P.)—The organization of air raid protection with air wardens who are supposed to know every person in their district, has accused the launching of a "Know Your Neighbor" movement. Members are pledged to meet every neighbor in their block.

BAKE FIGHTIN' FOOD!

Here's a "fightin' food"... Complete recipe for Pillsbury's CREOLE MEAT ROLLS

1. Sift 2 c. Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour once, measure; add 3 tsps. baking powder (or 2 tsps. double-acting) and ½ tsp. salt; sift together. (To every wife and mother of hard-working men, this is important: Pillsbury's Best is enriched with iron, which helps build red blood, and with two added B-vitamins—essential to sound nerves, good appetite and the ability to thrive on hard physical activity. This enrichment in no way affects flavor, appearance or baking quality.) 2. Cut in ¼ c. shortening until quite fine. 3. Add ¾ c. milk, about; mix only until all flour is dampened. 4. Knead on lightly floured board a few seconds to smooth surface. 5. Divide in half. Roll out each half into a 15 x 8-inch rectangle. 6. Pan-fry ½ c. chopped celery, ¼ c. chopped green pepper, in 2 Tbsps. butter until tender. Remove from fire. 7. Add 1 c. ground raw beef, ¾ c. canned lima beans, 3 Tbsps. chopped pimiento, 1 egg, unbeaten, ¼ c. catsup, and ¼ tsp. salt. 8. Divide in half; spread evenly over each piece of dough. (And notice your dough—see how smooth and delicate and tender it is . . . your promise of a real success to come! These are no times to be wasting time or money on baking failures. Pillsbury's Best is bake-proved, by 4 to 6 actual baking tests per day during milling, by laboratory tests every hour. Everything is done that can be done to insure your baking success!) 9. Roll each up as for jelly roll; moisten edge and seal. 10. Cut each into four rolls. Place on greased baking sheet. 11. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) for about 25 min. 12. Serve hot with the following CREOLE SAUCE: 13. Pan-fry 1 small onion, finely chopped, 2 Tbsps. chopped celery, 1 Tbsp. chopped green pepper in 2 Tbsps. butter or fat until tender. Add 1 tsp. Worcestershire Sauce (optional), ¾ c. catsup, 1 Tbsp. lemon juice, 1 Tbsp. prepared mustard, 1 c. beef broth or water; simmer slowly for 15 min. (After one hard day—before another one—this is the kind of food men need! Rich in food-energy and muscle-building protein, valuable for its vitamins and minerals—mighty easy on the pocketbook, mighty good to eat! Get a sack of Pillsbury's Best, and make Creole Meat Rolls for supper tonight!)

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

MIXED PRICE CHANGES DIM MARKET TREND

Some Leaders Continue on Rally Road, But Others Pick Up Minus Signs.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Slightly mixed price changes clouded the direction of today's stock market proceedings.

While yesterday's rally was extended by fractions in many cases, minus signs were plentiful today.

On the upside were Chrysler, Sears Roebuck and American Telephone. Among losers were U. S. Steel, Republic Steel and American Smelting.

Trend analysts studied the survey of the Engineering News-Record which estimated this week's construction volume was 53 per cent above the corresponding period a year ago but 15 per cent under the figure for the preceding 1942 week. A recession in private contracts caused the drop from the high total of the week before.

Attention also was given the Dun & Bradstreet bank clearings compilation which disclosed that transactions in 24 principal cities in the current week exceeded the 1942 stretch by 11.8 per cent but were 3.1 per cent less last week's aggregate.
